SPEAKER LISTS FIVE PLAGUES OF DEMOCRACY

Cameron Ralston, Dillsburg educator, was the main speaker this morning at the 59th annual convention of the Adams County School Directors' association. The all-day session is being held at the Littlestown high school.

One hundred and six directors registered for this morning's program, while 180 signed for the banquet held at noon.

Speaking on "The Five Plagues of Democracy," Ralston told the group "we need to develop the ability to think for ourselves. God gave us an independent mind so we can have an independent thought."

The first "plague of democracy" is the "unprecedented challenge to authority," Ralston said. "The genius of democracy is a government of authority and a citizenship with character," he noted. "We need the public schools to develop the respect for authority that is so greatly needed."

Cites "Aversion To Work"

The second "plague" was described by the speaker as "the unprecedented hatred of man for man." The third is a "terrific aversion to work," he said. "The only way in which we can achieve success is by work," he added. He used Thomas Edison as an example, pointing out that "he was successful because he knew there was a job to be done and he did it, he did not worry about the 30-hour week, or the three-day working week." Henry Ford was given another example of one who succeeded through hard work. "This country is one of the few," he noted, where "we have the opportunity to work hard and get ahead."

"Constant pursuit of pleasure" was described by Ralston as the fourth "plague of democracy." He struck at "vicious literature" such as "Forever Amber" and "The Hucksters" as "glorifying the wrong thing and poisoning the mind of both adult and child."

"Substitution of material things for spiritual things" was described as the fifth plague. His concluding remarks were: "The public school is a great instrument for destroying these plagues of democracy, by enabling us to see that 'it's no ride along on this train of democracy we cannot travel for nothing. There is a responsibility on our part to make a return.'"

The tenth through twelfth grades of the Littlestown high school were admitted to the auditorium to hear the lecture by Mr. Ralston.

Musical Program

Rowe M. Martin, Biglerville, vice president of the county board, was the presiding officer at the morning session. Raymond Baugher, New Oxford, was in charge of registration.

Music by the Littlestown Junior-Senior high school band, a 60-piece ensemble under the direction of Paul A. Harner, opened the program with a half-hour concert. Among the numbers played were "United Nations March," "Gallant Marine," "Teddy Bear Picnic," "Carnival of Roses," "Bartlesville Boogie" and a medley of Christmas songs.

Group singing was led by Luther M. Lady, Butler township, president of the county board of directors with his wife, Mrs. Ethel P. Lady, as accompanist. Devotions were conducted by the Rev. David S. Kammerer, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Littlestown. He read from the 12th chapter of Romans and offered prayer.

An alto saxophone solo, "Over the Waves" was played by George Snyder, a seventh grade student at Littlestown. Evelyn Harget, a senior at the high school was accompanist. For an encore he played "Home."

Mr. Lady presented the address of welcome, noting that "as schoolmen it is needful for us to establish long range policies and not simply makeshift plans that last for only a day."

Four Men Fined $150 For Hunting In Park

Four Lancaster county men who were caught hunting in the Gettysburg National Park on November 28 have paid fines totaling $150, the park office announced today. The charges were filed before U.S. Commissioner Edward B. Bullett by Park Warden Thomas R. Treher.

Eugene Wiley and K. H. McMullen, both of Lancaster, paid $50 each and Roger R. Weaver, Littlestown, paid $25 each. Wiley and McMullen each had one rabbit in their possession while the two other men were carrying loaded guns.

They were discovered on land west of Reynolds avenue.

TWO BROTHERS GIVEN HEARING; DECISION LATER

Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder today reserved decision in the case of Tony and Stanley Suleski, following hearings on charges that the two men took approximately $30 from a pinball machine at the Majestic Soda Grill, Carlisle street, on September 8, 1948. The two brothers have been in jail here since they were brought to Gettysburg after completing sentences in the Allegheny county workhouse.

George Lemppis, operator of the grill at the time of the alleged robbery, now a restaurant proprietor in Lebanon, identified the brothers as the two men who were in the grill on September 8, 1948, but said he did not see them take the money, which was not missed until the following morning.

The Suleskis denied ever being in Gettysburg, but admitted pleading guilty to similar charges in Clearfield county in December, 1948. Through their attorney, Eugene R. Hartman, they entered pleas of innocent to the local charges. A motion by defense attorney for dismissal of the charges on the ground that no prima facie case had been shown was denied.

The brothers testified that after purchasing an automobile in Rockford, Ill., in August, 1948, they had joined a carnival and were with it for five weeks, leaving it in Kentucky. The carnival did not play any place in Pennsylvania, they said. They said they then visited another show in Ohio for several days.

Both men are wanted on state narcotic charges in Texas, and warrants have been received by local authorities for their extradition, signed by Governor Duff. District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter represented the prosecution at the hearing today.

Scouts Seek Old Toys To Repair For Xmas Presents

Boy Scouts of Troop 78, the local Catholic troop, today were asking donations of used or broken toys to be repaired and painted by the scouts and distributed to youngsters of the community at a Christmas party to be held by the troop December 22.

How many youngsters will receive toys at the party will depend upon the number of toys that are donated by residents of the community. Assistant Scoutmaster Edward Kerrigan said today. So far, the scouts themselves have brought in about 30 toys that can be repaired and repainted to be given as gifts.

If the number of toys is small, the only youngsters to receive gifts at the party will be those invited by members of the scout troop. If a large number of toys is made available, the party will be open to all youngsters who wish to attend, and toys will be handed out until all are given away.

Those who wish to donate toys for the party are asked to call Kerrigan at 254-Z. Scoutmaster Charles Hemler, 959-R-12 or John Codori at the Texaco service station, Steinwehr avenue, phone 210. Scouts will then call at the homes of the persons offering the used toys to collect them.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, the scouts will meet at the Kerrigan paint shop, East Middle street, to repair and paint the toys to be given away at the party.

GOVERNOR FREES BLONDE BURGLAR

Lillian L. Becker, the "woman in white shoes" who burglarized college dormitories because of an "uncontrollable urge to steal," was freed Thursday by Governor W. Preston Lane of Maryland.

The 33-year-old blonde's commutation of sentence came after she had served one year of a maximum three-year term in the Maryland State Reformatory for Women on a charge of larceny, the Associated Press reported.

Lane said simply, "restitution has been made by her family."

Mrs. Becker, from Topanga, Cal., admitted burglarizing girls' dormitories at Washington college, Chesertown, Md.; Hood college, Frederick; Gettysburg college; Penn Hall Junior college and Wilson college at Chambersburg; Dickinson college, Carlisle, and Goucher college, Baltimore. Girls' schools in Virginia and other states reported similar raids.

When she pleaded guilty 18 months ago, she blamed her acts on an "uncontrollable urge to steal."

COUNTIAN IS ARRESTED FOR MANSLAUGHTER

Paul W. Peterson, Franklin township, was arrested this morning on a charge of involuntary manslaughter following a coroner's inquest into the deaths of Donald Wincer and Charles Forsythe.

The two died in the Warner hospital following a collision between cars driven by Peterson, an employee at the Rock Top Inn, and Ray E. Davis, Orrtanna R. D., on October 6.

Wincer died 14 hours after the crash from burns suffered when the Peterson car caught fire. He apparently was unable to escape from the rear seat. Forsythe, a resident of Orrtanna R. 1, died October 10 from chest injuries received in the crash.

Peterson sought release on $2,000 bail to appear in January court for trial following his arrest this morning. The arrest took place immediately after the coroner's jury returned with its verdict that Wincer and Forsythe "came to their deaths by injuries caused by a collision of cars driven by Paul W. Peterson and Ray Davis in Franklin township at 10:30 p. m. October 6. The accident apparently was caused by the negligence of Mr. Peterson."

Tell Of Crash

Testifying at the inquest, held in the arbitration room of the court house, Peterson said he had been attempting to secure a station on his car radio. That he looked down at the dial of the radio "for a few moments," and when he glanced up, "the Davis car was right in front of me."

Davis, the first witness on the stand, told Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county coroner, District Attorney Daniel A. Teeter and the coroner's jury that he was driving west, one mile west of Cashtown, with his wife and four children in the car, when he saw Peterson's car coming toward him on a curve in the road. The car continued straight toward him and he drove to the side of the road. After the crash Davis' car was straddling a guard rail and the Peterson car was crossways in the road. Davis said he helped Mrs. Davis and the children from his car and then went to help the men in the other car.

Scouts Seek Old Toys To Repair For Xmas Presents

Boy Scouts of Troop 78, the local Catholic troop, today were asking donations of used or broken toys to be repaired and painted by the scouts and distributed to youngsters of the community at a Christmas party to be held by the troop December 22.

How many youngsters will receive toys at the party will depend upon the number of toys that are donated by residents of the community. Assistant Scoutmaster Edward Kerrigan said today. So far, the scouts themselves have brought in about 30 toys that can be repaired and repainted to be given as gifts.

If the number of toys is small, the only youngsters to receive gifts at the party will be those invited by members of the scout troop. If a large number of toys is made available, the party will be open to all youngsters who wish to attend, and toys will be handed out until all are given away.

Those who wish to donate toys for the party are asked to call Kerrigan at 254-Z; Scoutmaster Charles Hemler, 959-R-12 or John Codori at the Texaco service station, Steinwehr avenue, phone 210. Scouts will then call at the homes of the persons offering the used toys to collect them.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, the scouts will meet at the Kerrigan paint shop, East Middle street, to repair and paint the toys to be given away at the party.

GOVERNOR FREES BLONDE BURGLAR

Lillian L. Becker, the "woman in white shoes" who burglarized college dormitories because of an "uncontrollable urge to steal," was freed Thursday by Governor W. Preston Lane of Maryland.

The 33-year-old blonde's commutation of sentence came after she had served one year of a maximum three-year term in the Maryland State Reformatory for Women on a charge of larceny, the Associated Press reported.

Lane said simply, "Restitution has been made by her family."

Mrs. Becker, from Topanga, Cal., admitted burglarizing girls' dormitories at Washington college, Chestertown, Md.; Hood college, Frederick; Gettysburg college; Penn Hall Junior college and Wilson college at Chambersburg; Dickinson college, Carlisle, and Goucher college, Baltimore. Girls' schools in Virginia and other states reported similar raids.

When she pleaded guilty 18 months ago, she blamed her acts on an "uncontrollable urge to steal." She became known as the "woman in white shoes" after girls at the ransacked dorms reported seeing a woman with white nurse's shoes either just before or after burglaries were discovered.

COUNTIAN IS ARRESTED FOR MANSLAUGHTER

Paul W. Peterson, Franklin township, was arrested this morning on a charge of involuntary manslaughter following a coroner's inquest into the deaths of Donald Wincer and Charles Forsythe.

The two died in the Warner hospital following a collision between cars driven by Peterson, an employee at the Rock Top Inn, and Ray E. Davis, Orrtanna R. D., on October 6. Wincer died 14 hours after the crash from burns suffered when the Peterson car caught fire. He apparently was unable to escape from the rear seat. Forsythe, a resident of Orrtanna R. 1, died October 10 from chest injuries received in the crash.

Peterson sought release on $2,000 bail to appear in January court for trial following his arrest this morning. The arrest took place immediately after the coroner's jury returned with its verdict that Wincer and Forsythe "came to their deaths by injuries caused by a collision of cars driven by Paul W. Peterson and Ray Davis in Franklin township at 10:30 p. m. October 6. The accident apparently was caused by the negligence of Mr. Peterson."

Tell Of Crash

Testifying at the inquest, held in the arbitration room of the court house, Peterson said he had been attempting to secure a station on his car radio. That he looked down at the dial of the radio "for a few moments," and when he glanced up, "the Davis car was right in front of me."

Davis, the first witness on the stand, told Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county coroner, District Attorney Daniel A. Teeter and the coroner's jury that he was driving west, one mile west of Cashtown, with his wife and four children in the car, when he saw Peterson's car coming toward him on a curve in the road. The car continued straight toward him and he drove to the side of the road. After the crash Davis' car was straddling a guard rail and the Peterson car was crossways in the road. Davis said he helped Mrs. Davis and the children from his car and then went to help the men in the other car.

Silent Sound Can Cleanse Dirty Clothes, Chase Fog

Pittsburgh, Dec. 8 (AP)—A scientist on Wednesday told how clothes can be washed by silent sound, squeals pitched so high humans can't hear them.

Professor Dudley Thompson of Virginia Polytechnic Institute described these non-noisy noises in an address prepared for delivery at the 42nd annual meeting of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

Humans, Professor Thompson explained, can hear sound waves which vibrate between 20 and 20,000 times a second. Sounds which vibrate faster than that are called ultrasonic. Some of these can be heard by dogs, pigeons and other animals but not by humans.

Many Applications

High frequency sounds are doing many jobs. They can be used to do lots more, Professor Thompson said. A blast of this sound—it would be deafening if you could hear it—will literally knock the dirt out of a bunch of grimy clothes.

A fog-bound airport can be cleared by silent sound. The noise shakes the fog droplets together and the murk falls to the ground like rain.

In the laboratory silent sound has other uses. It can turn some mixtures into crystals, separate them or coagulate them. Industry can use silent sound to measure the thickness of materials right down to the size of molecules.

More Work To Be Done

More work needs to be done on the subject, Professor Thompson said, particularly in finding out how to make better noise makers for silent sound. Also unknown are the conditions under which silent sound best operates.

The institute scheduled a special series of 10 technical papers to be written in further exploration on the subject and named Professor Thompson to supervise the series.

Some 1,600 top chemical engineers attended the four-day meeting ending Wednesday. Industrial wastes, the problem of peacetime use of atomic energy and the parallel problem of heat transfer were discussed. How to train more and better young chemical engineers also was considered.

A significant address was delivered at yesterday's session by Dr. Lawrence R. Hafstad, director of reactor development of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission.

Dr. Hafstad explained many difficulties connected with the construction of atomic power plants. One of the big factors involved is their size. Atomic power just doesn't come in small packages. This rules out chances for the atom-powered autos and sewing machines some folks have been hoping for.

At the institute's awards banquet Tuesday night a slightly built San Francisco scientist received the top prize of the group. The 1949 winner of the Celanese Corporation of America Professional Progress award in chemical engineering is Dr. Mott Souder.

Dr. Souder was selected for his discoveries of processes which boost production of life-saving penicillin and the chemical toluene, a basic ingredient of TNT. He received a framed citation and $1,000.

Washington, Dec. 8 (AP)—The United States has announced it will comply with terms broadcast by the North Korea Communists for the release of two Americans held captive since September.

Washington, Dec. 8 (AP)—Leaders in the battle of the American Medical Association against what it calls "socialized medicine" say that the final win-or-lose struggle may come in 1950.

REX BEACH ENDS HIS OWN LIFE

Sebring, Fla., Dec. 8 (AP)—Rex Beach, 72, nationally known novelist, was found dead of a pistol wound in the head at his home near here Wednesday morning.

His death was pronounced suicide by County Judge J. Howard Livings-ton and Sheriff Broward Coker.

Beach had been suffering from a throat ailment for three years. His body was found by a nurse who brought him breakfast, the sheriff said.

His nurse, Miss Tania Simonian, found the writer in his pajamas on the floor of his second story bedroom. The body lay by the bed in which he had slept through the night.

Beach was in the midst of a psychological novel, "Woman in Ambush," on which he had completed 27 chapters. He had not worked on it for several months.

This summer, Beach's life was despaired of for a while at Miami where he had gone for treatment for his throat.

Indigent Fashions His Plastic Nose

Los Angeles, (AP)—John B. Bidegain won a new career by a nose. The 36-year-old Frenchman lost his nose in 1942 while lighting a gas-line stove. It exploded, searing his face.

Bidegain couldn't get a job after leaving the hospital. He entered Los Angeles county's Rancho Los Amigos as an indigent.

"Why don't you make yourself a nose?" the manager of the rehabilitation workshop asked him.

Bidegain made a plaster of paris cast of his face. He fashioned a nose of modeling clay.

By pouring polyvinyl chloride, a flexible, nontoxic plastic into it, he got a new nose, a product of his own skill. He wears it proudly, touched up with cosmetics and held fast with spirit gum. Now Bidegain is fitting himself for a new job—plaster molding.

New Delhi, Dec. 8 (AP)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru told a news conference Monday of giving no date now for India's recognition of Communist China, but said the recognition "could not be delayed very long."

Give-Away Programs Are Very Popular

Los Angeles, (AP)—Radio give-away programs are popular because they play the good fairy in this mechanistic age, says Dr. Franklin Fearing, U.C.L.A. psychologist.

Fearing analyzed the "wishes" submitted by women on one such program, and found 35 per cent wanted special experiences, such as a date with a movie star or a trip to Bermuda; 30 per cent wanted practical things like automatic washing machines or vacuum cleaners; 18 per cent asked for special services, such as medical care or a job; 13 per cent asked for luxury items like mink coats or television sets, and only four per cent wanted bizarre or unrealistic gifts.

AMERICANS ARE LIVING LONGER

New York, (AP)—Population statistics for the United States shows that approximately 6.8 per cent are 65 years of age or over compared with 2.7 per cent in 1880. It is estimated that at the current rate of increased age the ratio will have gone to 13.2 at the end of the century.

STRONG BULLET
MAT TEAM WILL MEET PANTHERS

Coach Clyde Cole and his Gettysburg college wrestling squad left at 12:30 o'clock today for Pittsburgh where they clash with the University of Pittsburgh wrestling team Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

This year's team appears to be the strongest team in college history in the opinion of Coach Cole. The squad is well-balanced and six of the eight men carded to oppose the Panthers Saturday are lettermen.

The engagement with Pitt inaugurates the toughest mat program ever undertaken by a Bullet team. Engagements are carded with Princeton, Penn, Haverford, PMC, Bucknell, Temple, F. and M., Johns Hopkins, Muhlenberg, Lafayette and the Middle Atlantic tournament.

Barring any unforeseen complications the Bullet's should have a satisfactory season despite the ruggedness of the schedule.

Coach Cole has nominated the following to oppose Pitt: 121-pound, John Loose, a sophomore; 128, Graham McCutcheon, three-time letter winner; 136, Jimmy Woods, another sophomore; 145, Dick Sassaman, two-year letter winner; 155, Russ Reigel, the Bullet's unbeaten ace and three-year veteran; 165, Launce Soult, two-year letterman; 175, Clarence Diehl, one-year veteran, and heavyweight, John Hershberger, another one-year veteran.

The schedule follows: December 10, Pittsburgh, away; 15, Princeton, away; 17, Penn at Cheltenham high school; January 7, Haverford, home; 14, PMC, home; 21, Bucknell, home; February 4, Temple, away; 8, F. and M., away; 11, Johns Hopkins, home; 18, Muhlenberg, home; 25, Lafayette, home; March 3 and 4, Middle Atlantic at Delaware.

Barbara Ann Kleinfelter is one of nine seniors at Lebanon Valley college to be included in Who's Who.

Student selection for the honor list takes into account excellence and sincerity in scholarship, leadership and participation in extra-curricular activities, citizenship and service to the college and promise of future usefulness to society.

board and Christmas tree, let us so value these privileges that we may ever be on the alert to defend our freedom against tyranny. Let us by our actions and deeds give succor and courage to those less fortunate people who suffer from aggression and oppression. Let us pray that America forever stands a Christian bulwark before all the world.

What is the most dangerous tree in the world? According to the National Board of Fire Underwriters, it's that symbol of Yuletide cheer and good will—the Christmas tree. And the long and tragic record of dentils, injuries and maimings—many to children—caused by holiday fires fully bears out that statement.

This certainly doesn't mean that you should not have a Christmas tree. You should. But it does mean that certain elementary precautions should be followed to the letter, and kept constantly in mind.

It is recommended, for instance, that you buy a small tree—it is less hazardous. It should be placed well away from radiators, heaters, and the fireplace. Candles should never be used on the tree under any circumstances. Use only electric light sets which carry the seal of approval of the Underwriters' Laboratories—it guarantees that the sets meet the proper safety standards.

Don't use paper, cotton or other flammable material for decoration. If extension cords are necessary, be sure they're in good condition—frayed wiring is a potent cause of electrical fires. Never leave the lights burning when the house is unoccupied. Dispose of gift wrappings promptly—they're a real menace inside the house. Be especially careful with matches and smoking materials, and, finally, get rid of your tree as soon as the needles begin to fall. That means it's dry and ready to burst into flame.

Christmas isn't far off. It's time now to make plans for a holiday season which will be safe as well as joyous. And once they're made, stick with them.

When Thoreau, the naturalist, was close to death, he was visited by a very pious aunt who asked: "Henry, have you made your peace with God?" "I didn't know," was Thoreau's reply, "that we had ever quarreled."

in his car and took us all to the hospital," Davis related.

Dr. Bruce N. Wolff, surgeon at the Warner hospital, told of the various injuries treated there in connection with the accident. Mrs. Davis, he said, will suffer permanent disfigurement of the face, and possible permanent disability of the left eye. Peterson, who had a fractured pelvis, may have permanent trouble with his hip, Doctor Wolff added.

Doctor Wolff said his recollection was that Peterson told him he was reaching for a cigar lighter in the car when the crash occurred. Peterson said later that he may have told the doctor that but that actually he was "operating the radio when the crash occurred."

Helped Free Wincer

John Hostetter, Franklin township, told the jury he was called from his home "by some woman who said there was a big accident up the road and would I please help." Reaching the scene, he said, he found Wincer seated in the rear of the burning car. He said he helped Wincer out, and beat out the flames on his hair and clothes. Hostetter said that at the time Forsythe and Peterson were lying on the road some distance from the car. Hostetter added he could see no reason why Wincer had not gotten out of the car. "The door was open and he was nearly completely out of the car," Bottles in the back of the car were "popping every couple of seconds," Hostetter said.

Peterson claimed that Wincer and Forsythe had asked for a make of beer not available at the Rock Top Inn, and that about 7 o'clock that night he agreed to drive them to Kimple's Inn. There, he said, he had a bottle of beer and then had gone out to the car "in order to hurry the other two, since I had to get back to work." Forsythe and Wincer came out later, making several trips and bringing with them a dozen bottles of beer each time. They had about five cases in all, he added.

Trooper Testifies

Peterson at first said that the beer had all been purchased by Wincer and Forsythe for their use. Later he said that he had had them buy one case for use at the Rock Top Inn.

State Policeman George Evanko testified that both Forsythe and Peterson had told him at the Warner hospital, shortly after the accident, that they had gone to the Kimple Tavern to get beer for Rock Top Inn, and that five cases of one brand and one of another had been secured.

Peterson said that he had no recollection of having talked to Evanko, and said that the first he knew a policeman had talked with him was two weeks later, when a patient on the bed next to him told him of Evanko having been there.

Members of the coroner's jury included G. Henry Roth, Edward Crist, Curvin Krout, Robert Saylor, Jr., LeRoy LeVan and James A. Aumen.

NEARBY TOWNS MAY JOIN LOOP

Baltimore, Dec. 9 (AP)—If the Class D Eastern Shore League operates next season Chambersburg, Pa., and Frederick, Md., are slated to join the loop.

But the question whether the circuit will continue depends on Salisbury, Md.

Fred Lucas, league president, said yesterday that a Salisbury committee is desirous of continuing there even though the club has lost the support of the St. Louis Cardinals.

A committee headed by George Jacobs reported Roy Dissinger, William, Conn., will organize a team in Chambersburg if the league operates. Tom Glass of Frederick told the group the Philadelphia Athletics are ready to sponsor a team there.

Oren J. Sterling, who sold the Hagerstown Owls of the Class B Interstate League this week, was reported to also have expressed a desire to operate in Chambersburg but withdrew when he found out Dissinger had been promised first option.

Five other members are ready to operate. They are Seaford, Del., farm team of the Philadelphia Phillies; Easton, Md., member of the New York Yankees chain, Cambridge, Md., of the Brooklyn farm system; Federalsburg, Md., and Rehoboth, Del. The latter two will operate as independents.

Bob Hamilton Is Leading At Miami

Miami, Fla., Dec. 9 (AP)—A veteran campaigner and a pair of young professionals led the field today as Miami's 26th annual $10,000 golf tournament went into the second round.

Bob Hamilton of Landover, Md., who has been playing pro golf for more than 20 years, carded a six-under-par 64 in the first 18-hole round for a one-stroke lead over the field of 232 top ranking professionals and amateurs.

Gene Dahlbender, 26-year-old newcomer to the play for pay ranks, and Fred Haas, Jr., 33-year-old New Orleans shotmaker, each carded five under par 65s.

Royal Governor, a stake horse owned by Mrs. E. duPont Weir, catc scrambled eggs with his oats and consumes milk by the gallon.

UCLA Wins Battle To Keep Sanders

Los Angeles, Dec. 9 (AP)—UCLA has won a cross-country tug-of-war with the University of Florida for the football coaching talents of Henry (Red) Sanders.

University of California at Los Angeles officials announced Wednesday that the humorous, likeable coach has decided to remain at the Bruin institution and implied that he has received a new contract.

The announcement, following a meeting of the school's board of control, ended a week of speculation stemming from reports that Sanders had received a juicy offer to move to Florida.

The UCLA statement quoted no figures. But persons close to the situation said the pact would run for 10 years and the stipend would be $15,000 per year, plus a substantial expense account. Sanders himself was not available for comment.

RETENTION OF BONUS COSTLY TO BIG LOOPS

Baltimore, Dec. 9 (AP)—The failure of the minor leagues to wipe out the bonus rule affects 36 bonus players on major league rosters representing a total outlay of some $800,000.

Added to this sizeable bundle are 185 bonus-tagged minor league players to increase the total expenditure to well above the million mark. It is small wonder then the "stuck" major league club owners went all out to ditch baseball's most controversial law.

Leading the fight for repeal at the minor league's annual convention yesterday was Bob Carpenter, president of the Philadelphia Phils, who own more bonus players than any other club. The staunchest supporters of the rule were Warren Giles, president of the Cincinnati Reds, Fred Saigh, owner of the St. Louis Cardinals and Bill Dewitt, head of the St. Louis Browns.

Needing 45 assenting votes of the 59 leagues, or three-fourths, the proposal to repeal the rule got only 32 "yes" votes. There were 26 "no" votes and one league abstained. As a result, the bonus rule is here to stay—at least for another year.

The action means that the majors probably will make no real move in their joint meeting in New York next week except merely to discuss the situation. No vote is expected to be taken although a canvass of major league club owners showed them evenly divided over the rule.

"Frozen" Stars
Among the higher priced players "frozen" in the big leagues are catcher Frank House, Detroit ($72,000); pitcher Johnny Antonelli, Boston Braves ($65,000); pitcher Curt Simmons, Phillies ($60,000); pitcher Frank Quinn, Boston Red Sox ($50,000); pitcher Paul Hinrichs, New York Yankees ($50,000), and outfielder Jackie Jensen, Yankees ($45,000).

The bonus rule was adopted originally to stop big payments to promising players for their signatures on their first contracts in organized baseball.

It clamps tight restrictions on players who are paid more than a set scale for signing contracts. Such a bonus player cannot be farmed out unless nobody claims him for the waiver price, which varies $10,000 in the majors to $100 in Class D leagues. He is subject to unrestricted draft by clubs of higher classification as long as he stays in the minors.

The vote on the bonus was the big business of the convention, which closes today with a brief session.

Louis Retirement Has Its Problems

Detroit, Dec. 9 (AP)—Joe Louis, a terror of the prize ring for 14 years, is finding his retirement a problem. The former heavyweight champion's exhibition tour evidently has gotten away from him.

He says—emphatically—he's not interested in a comeback, but the "big money" proposals again are being waved at him.

The management of Lee Oma, who withdrew from a scheduled exhibition go with the Brown Bomber here next Wednesday, offers $35,000 for a "real fight."

And Jake Mintz, co-manager of NBA Champion Ezzard Charles, wants a match next summer between his man and Louis. He sees a "million dollar gate."

JAKE LAMOTTA IS FAVORITE

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—Middleweight Champion Jake Lamotta is the betting favorite to win and the fans' choice to lose in his non-title round bout with France's Robert Villmain tonight.

The two clash for the second time in Madison Square Garden and the stout-hearted little swinger from Paris will have most of the anticipated 12,000 customers rooting for him.

Anvil-chinned Jake never has been any too popular in his hometown and the rank decision he received over Villmain last March 25 didn't boost his fan mail.

The busy little Parisian swarmed all over the Bronx bull and won handily in the opinion of 19 of 20 boxing writers at the ringside. But two of the officials—Referee Harry Ebbets and Judge Harold Barnes—saw things differently and voted for LaMotta. Judge Charley Shortell had stocky Robert in front.

Eddie Egan, the French-speaking chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, got fired up over the voting and suspended both Barnes and Ebbets. Both are back in action now. They are not expected to officiate tonight.

PITT PROPOSES ONE CODE FOR ATHLETES' AID

Pittsburgh, Dec. 9 (AP)—Dr. Rufus F. Fitzgerald, the football-minded chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh, says the nation's colleges won't be happy until they have a universal code governing aid to athletes.

Shortly after Fitzgerald outlined his views yesterday, they were wholeheartedly endorsed by Dr. Karl Leib, president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, in a nutshell, here's Fitzgerald's idea.

"Instead of one code for the Ivy league, another for the Big Ten and another for the Southern conference, we should have a single code as universal as the playing rules."

Dr. Leib said that is exactly what the NCAA sanity code is trying to do, declaring:

"I give my wholehearted support to the proposal."

Dr. Fitzgerald has been at the helm of Pitt since 1945. He took on not only a big job as an educator but inherited a football policy which had produced few victories since 1938.

But Fitzgerald is the first to deny that Pitt at anytime de-emphasized football.

Headline De-Emphasis
"The only de-emphasis was in the headlines," he declared.

Let's take a look at the record, and see what happened at Pitt in little more than ten years:

In 1938, the university voluntarily placed itself under Big Ten rules. Up to then, Pitt had been a powerhouse. Few schools wanted to take on the Panthers who made a habit of winning almost every Saturday under the late Dr. John (Jock) Sutherland.

Within a few months after the Big Ten and NCAA rules had been adopted, Sutherland quit immediately. Pitt's gridiron's fortunes fizzled like a wet firecracker.

Charley Bowser took over for three years. Attendance dropped and so did Pitt's national football rating. Clark Szaughenessy, now coaching the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football league, succeeded Bowser. He quit in 1946.

Wes Fesler, now at Ohio State, served one year. He was happy to return to his alma mater at Columbus, Ohio.

Walker (Mike) Milligan succeeded Fesler. He won only one game in 1947, and the wolves began howling. But in 1

NEARBY TOWNS MAY JOIN LOOP

Baltimore, Dec. 9 (AP)—If the Class D Eastern Shore League operates next season Chambersburg, Pa., and Frederick, Md., are slated to join the loop.

But the question whether the circuit will continue depends on Salisbury, Md.

Fred Lucas, league president, said yesterday that a Salisbury committee is desirous of continuing there even though the club has lost the support of the St. Louis Cardinals.

A committee headed by George Jacobs reported Roy Dissinger, William, Conn., will organize a team in Chambersburg if the league operates. Tom Glass of Frederick told the group the Philadelphia Athletics are ready to sponsor a team there.

Oren J. Sterling, who sold the Hagerstown Owls of the Class B Interstate League this week, was reported to also have expressed a desire to operate in Chambersburg but withdrew when he found out Dissinger had been promised first option.

Five other members are ready to operate. They are Seaford, Del., farm team of the Philadelphia Phillies; Eastern, Md., member of the New York Yankees chain, Cambridge, Md., of the Brooklyn farm system; Federalsburg, Md., and Rehoboth, Del. The latter two will operate as independents.

Bob Hamilton Is Leading At Miami

Miami, Fla., Dec. 9 (AP)—A veteran campaigner and a pair of young professionals led the field today as Miami's 26th annual $10,000 golf tournament went into the second round.

Bob Hamilton of Landover, Md., who has been playing pro golf for more than 20 years, carded a six-under-par 64 in the first 18-hole round for a one-stroke lead over the field of 232 top ranking professionals and amateurs.

Gene Dahlbender, 26-year-old newcomer to the play for pay ranks, and Fred Haas, Jr., 33-year-old New Orleans shotmaker, each carded five under par 65s.

Royal Governor, a stake horse owned by Mrs. E. duPont Weir, eatse scrambled eggs with his oats and consumes milk by the gallon.

UCLA Wins Battle To Keep Sanders

Los Angeles, Dec. 9 (AP)—UCLA has won a cross-country tug-of-war with the University of Florida for the football coaching talents of Henry (Red) Sanders.

University of California at Los Angeles officials announced Wednesday that the humorous, likeable coach has decided to remain at the Bruin institution and implied that he has received a new contract.

The announcement, following a meeting of the school's board of control, ended a week of speculation stemming from reports that Sanders had received a juicy offer to move to Florida.

The UCLA statement quoted no figures. But persons close to the situation said the pact would run for 10 years and the stipend would be $15,000 per year, plus a substantial expense account. Sanders himself was not available for comment.

RETENTION OF BONUS COSTLY TO BIG LOOPS

Baltimore, Dec. 9 (AP)—The failure of the minor leagues to wipe out the bonus rule affects 36 bonus players on major league rosters representing a total outlay of some $800,000.

Added to this sizeable bundle are 185 bonus-tagged minor league players to increase the total expenditure to well above the million mark. It is small wonder then the "stuck" major league club owners went all out to ditch baseball's most controversial law.

Leading the fight for repeal at the minor league's annual convention yesterday was Bob Carpenter, president of the Philadelphia Phils, who own more bonus players than any other club. The staunchest supporters of the rule were Warren Giles, president of the Cincinnati Reds, Fred Saigh, owner of the St. Louis Cardinals and Bill Dewitt, head of the St. Louis Browns.

Needing 45 assenting votes of the 59 leagues, or three-fourths, the proposal to repeal the rule got only 32 "yes" votes. There were 26 "no" votes and one league abstained. As a result, the bonus rule is here to stay—at least for another year.

The action means that the majors probably will make no real move in their joint meeting in New York next week except merely to discuss the situation. No vote is expected to be taken although a canvass of major league club owners showed them evenly divided over the rule.

"Frozen" Stars

Among the higher priced players "frozen" in the big leagues are catcher Frank House, Detroit ($72,000); pitcher Johnny Antonelli, Boston Braves ($65,000); pitcher Curt Simmons, Phillies ($60,000); pitcher Frank Quinn, Boston Red Sox ($50,000); pitcher Paul Hinrichs, New York Yankees ($50,000), and outfielder Jackie Jensen, Yankees ($45,000).

The bonus rule was adopted originally to stop big payments to promising players for their signatures on their first contracts in organized baseball.

It clamps tight restrictions on players who are paid more than a set scale for signing contracts. Such a bonus player cannot be farmed out unless nobody claims him for the waiver price, which varies $10,000 in the majors to $100 in Class D leagues. He is subject to unrestricted draft by clubs of higher classification as long as he stays in the minors.

The vote on the bonus was the big business of the convention, which closes today with a brief session.

BUBBLERS SEEK TO RETAIN CO. LEAGUE TITLE

"Bud" Ecker's Boiling Springs high basketball team will be a serious contender again this year in the scrap for the Adams County league title, won last year by the Bubblers.

Shortly after Fitzgerald outlined his views yesterday, they were wholeheartedly endorsed by Dr. Karl Leib, president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association. In a nutshell, here's Fitzgerald's idea:

"Instead of one code for the Ivy league, another for the Big Ten and another for the Southern conference we should have a single code as universal as the playing rules."

Dr. Leib said that is exactly what the NCAA sanity code is trying to do, declaring:

"I give my wholehearted support to the proposal."

Dr. Fitzgerald has been at the helm of Pitt since 1945. He took on not only a big job as an educator but inherited a football policy which had produced few victories since 1938.

But Fitzgerald is the first to deny that Pitt at anytime de-emphasized football.

Headline De-Emphasis

"The only de-emphasis was in the headlines," he declared.

Let's take a look at the record, and see what happened at Pitt in little more than ten years:

In 1938, the university voluntarily placed itself under Big Ten rules. Up to then, Pitt had been a powerhouse. Few schools wanted to take on the Panthers who made a habit of winning almost every Saturday under the late Dr. John (Jock) Sutherland.

Within a few months after the Big Ten and NCAA rules had been adopted, Sutherland quit. Immediately Pitt's gridiron fortunes fizzled like a wet firecracker.

Charley Bowser took over for three years. Attendance dropped and so did Pitt's national football rating. Clark Shaughnessy, now coaching the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football league, succeeded Bowser. He quit in 1946.

Wes Fesler, now at Ohio State, served one year. He was happy to return to his alma mater at Columbus, Ohio.

Walker (Mike) Milligan succeeded Fesler. He won only one game in 1947, and the wolves began howling. But in 1948 and 1949, virtually the same team bounced back to compile identical records of six wins and three losses.

In the meantime, Navy Captain Tom Hamilton took over the reins as athletic director. He replaced James (Whitey) Hagan who had quit. Now rounding out his first year, Hamilton has the situation well in hand.

STRONG BULLET MAT TEAM WILL MEET PANTHERS

Coch Clyde Cole and his Gettysburg college wrestling squad left at 12:30 o'clock today for Pittsburgh where they clash with the University of Pittsburgh wrestling team Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

This year's team appears to be the strongest team in college history in the opinion of Coach Cole. The squad is well-balanced and six of the eight men carded to oppose the Panthers Saturday are lettermen.

The engagement with Pitt inaugurates the toughest mat program ever undertaken by a Bullet team. Engagements are carded with Princeton, Penn, Haverford, PMC, Bucknell, Temple, F. and M., Johns Hopkins, Muhlenberg, Lafayette and Middle Atlantic tournament.

Barring any unforeseen complications the Bullets should have a satisfactory season despite the ruggedness of the schedule.

Coach Cole has nominated the following to oppose Pitt: 121-pound, John Loose, a sophomore; 128, Graham McCutcheon, three-time letter winner; 136, Jimmy Woods, another sophomore; 145, Dick Sassaman, two-year letter winner; 155, Russ Reigel, the Bullets' unbeaten ace and three-year veteran; 165, Laurence Squit, two-year letterman; 175, Clarence Diehl, one-year veteran, and heavyweight, John Hershberger, another one-year veteran.

The schedule follows: December 10, Pittsburgh, away; 15, Princeton, away; 17, Penn at Cheltenham high school; January 7, Haverford, home; 14, PMC, home; 21, Bucknell, home; February 4, Temple, away; 8, F. and M., away; 11, Johns Hopkins, home; 18, Muhlenberg, home; 25, Lafayette, home; March 3 and 4, Middle Atlantic at Delaware.

(Continued from Page 1) board and Christmas tree, let us so value these privileges that we may ever be on the alert to defend our freedom against tyranny. Let us by our actions and deeds give succor and courage to those less fortunate people who suffer from aggression and oppression. Let us pray that America forever stands a Christian bulwark before all the world.

What is the most dangerous tree in the world? According to the National Board of Fire Underwriters, it's that symbol of Yuletide cheer and good will—the Christmas tree. And the long and tragic record of deaths, injuries and maimings—many to children—caused by holiday fires fully bears out that statement.

This certainly doesn't mean that you should not have a Christmas tree. You should. But it does mean that certain elementary precautions should be followed to the letter, and kept constantly in mind.

It is recommended, for instance, that you buy a small tree—it is less hazardous. It should be placed well away from radiators, heaters, and the fireplace. Candles should never be used on the tree under any circumstances. Use only electric light sets which carry the seal of approval of the Underwriters' Laboratories—it guarantees that the sets meet the proper safety standards.

Don't use paper, cotton or other flammable material for decoration. If extension cords are necessary, be sure they're in good condition—frayed wiring is a potent cause of electrical fires. Never leave the lights burning when the house is unoccupied. Dispose of gift wrappings promptly—they're a real menace inside the house. Be especially careful with matches and smoking materials, and, finally, get rid of your tree as soon as the needles begin to fall. That means it's dry and ready to burst into flame.

Christmas isn't far off. It's time now to make plans for a holiday season which will be safe as well as joyous. And once they're made, stick with them.

When Thoreau, the naturalist, was close to death, he was visited by a very young aunt who asked, "Henry, have you made your peace with God?"

"I didn't know," was Thoreau's reply, "that we had ever quarrelled."

in his car and took us all to the hospital," Davis related.

Dr. Bruce N. Wolff, surgeon at the Warner hospital, told of the various injuries treated there in connection with the accident. Mrs. Davis, he said, will suffer permanent disfigurement of the face, and possible permanent disability of the left eye. Peterson, who had a fractured pelvis, may have permanent trouble with his hip, Doctor Wolff added.

Doctor Wolff said his recollection was that Peterson told him he was reaching for a cigar lighter in the car when the crash occurred. Peterson said later that he may have told the doctor that but that actually he was "operating the radio when the crash occurred."

Helped Free Wincer

John Hostetter, Franklin township, told the jury he was called from his home "by some woman who said there was a big accident up the road and would I please help." Reaching the scene, he said, he found Wincer seated in the rear of the burning car. He said he helped Wincer out, and beat out the flames on his hair and clothes. Hostetter said that at the time Forsythe and Peterson were lying on the road some distance from the car. Hostetter added he could see no reason why Wincer had not gotten out of the car. "The door was open and he was nearly completely out of the car." Bottles in the back of the car were "popping every couple of seconds," Hostetter said.

Peterson claimed that Wincer and Forsythe had asked for a make of beer not available at the Rock Top Inn, and that about 7 o'clock that night he agreed to drive them to Kimple's Inn. There, he said, he had a bottle of beer and then had gone out to the car "in order to hurry the other two, since I had to get back to work." Forsythe and Wincer came out later, making several trips and bringing with them a dozen bottles of beer each time. They had about five cases in all, he added.

Trooper Testifies

Peterson at first said that the beer had all been purchased by Wincer and Forsythe for their use. Later he said that he had had them buy one case for use at the Rock Top Inn.

State Policeman George Evanko testified that both Forsythe and Peterson had told him at the Warner hospital, shortly after the accident, that they had gone to the Kimple Tavern to get beer for Rock Top Inn, and that five cases of one brand and one of another had been secured.

Peterson said that he had no recollection of having talked to Evanko, and said that the first he knew a policeman had talked with him was two weeks later, when a patient on the bed next to him told him of Evanko having been there.

Members of the coroner's jury included G. Henry Roth, Edward Crist, Curvin Krout, Robert Saylor, Jr., LeRoy LeVan and James A. Aumen.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE TRAVELER'S AID

For years I have travelled all over America, and in most all of the railroad stations I have noted kindly faced women in neat uniforms, at a desk, or walking around in crowds, hunting out those that they might help in some way or other. Thousands of strangers, many from foreign lands, arrive daily at boat landings and in stations all over the Western country, who look about them in wonder, and often in a confused manner.

It is to these people that thousands of travellers owe more than they can express, for they have been helped and befriended by these noble and self-sacrificing Traveler's Aid servants for more than a half century. I understand that this fine Society was initiated through the generous gift of a wealthy man who died many years ago. But this work goes on and on and is today largely kept alive and useful through voluntary gifts. I have an idea that many a gift has come from those helped in former years.

A sharp eye is kept on children and young people who travel alone, as well as on those who might be misled in one way or another by unsuspecting evil doers. These Traveler's Aid people know human nature, and are alert, considerate and kindly. They perform a wonderful service wherever they are stationed. Any traveller is always safe in their hands.

I have sat in many a railroad station and watched these tireless people work. I have seen them "spot" a lonely person, or one with many a question on his mind, or one who seemed confused and "lost." These Aids are selfless workers, and I feel sure that they love their work, for their faces seem to say just that.

I am told that there seems to be no end to the good services of these people who keep the Traveler's Aid Society a vital institution throughout America. Certainly it deserves wholehearted support, as one of democracy's outstretching arms. I wish that I might salute each worker!

AUSTRALIANS VOTE SATURDAY

Sydney, Australia, Dec. 9 (AP)—Socialism or free enterprise? That is a clear-cut issue in Australia's critical general election tomorrow.

The Labor party of Prime Minister J. B. Chifley, a former locomotive driver, has been in power eight years. It has a long-range program of nationalization. It believes government controls are needed to stabilize the nation's economy and insure full employment.

The opposition promises to halt nationalization and the Australian leftward trend. Labor and Socialism went down to defeat in neighboring New Zealand last week and the opposition hopes that is a sign of the future.

The anti-Labor opposition in Australia comes from two parties, the Liberal party and the Country party, which promise to work in unison should Labor be defeated. The Liberals are led by former Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies, a lawyer. Leader of the Country party—strong in rural areas—is Arthur W. Fadden, an accountant. Menzies would be the next prime minister should the coalition win.

Nearly 5,000,000 voters will ballot

Santa AND THE MAGICIAN

THEY SLID INTO EACH OTHER AND AROUND EACH OTHER UNTIL MAN AND BOY AND DUCK WERE DIZZY.

Chapter 5
MAGIC ROUTE TO SANTA LAND

"Gladys Hady!" exclaimed Serena when she saw what was in the dwarf's brief case. "What important looking papers!"

Promptly George George Frothingham began repacking the papers. "I positively will go no further, Serena, unless you cut out that rhyming."

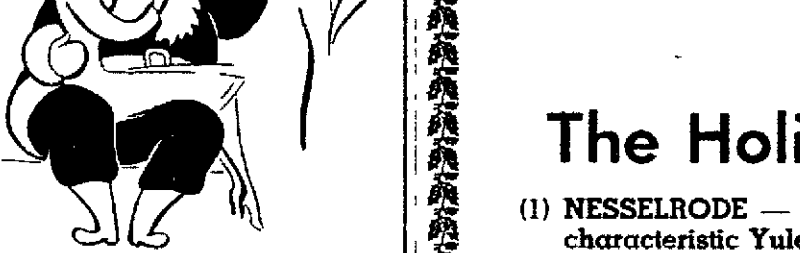

"Slogum Po—" began Serena. "I mean—certainly. If you can't appreciate poetry—"

"Poetry!" snapped the dwarf. "If—"

Mr. Dilly quickly interrupted. "What are those strange papers in your brief case, Mr. Frothingham?" "They are maps and time tables. I have collected over many centuries," said the dwarf, dumping the stuff out again. "By studying them carefully you can find your way to most anywhere. Here, for instance, is a route I mapped to the moon."

He drew out a long narrow ribbon of paper covered with strange numbers and letters. He studied it proudly. "You go in your backyard at one minute past midnight on the first night of the new moon in the last month of summer," he read. "Carry in your left pants pocket a pound of black eyed peas and in your right pocket a thumb."

"What are they for?" gasped Henry. "The peas are to pay your fare."

"All I ask Santa, is one delicious dinner a week at . . ."

with and the thumb is to use on your finger when you ring the moon's doorbell. It might be hot you know."

Mr. Dilly cleared his throat. "This is very interesting," he said gently. "But we want to get to Santa Land."

"Oh, yes," said George George. He put away the map to the moon. "But I have so many wonderful trips planned here. It's a shame more people don't come to me for advice on their vacations." He rifled through his papers scattering them on the ground.

"Ships and trains to the Land of Cross Eyed Giants. Best Route including detours to the City Where Boys Never Wear Rubbers. Roads to Yesterday. A Vacation in the Milky Way."

"My!" breathed Henry staring at the papers in delight. "I never knew people could go to those kind of places."

"Well, I advertise in the papers," said George George. "But no one seems to understand me. Or maybe people just prefer to go to the beach in the summer. Now here, I think, is the Santa Land route."

He drew out a square sheet of paper and studied it closely while Mr. Dilly, Henry and Serena stared over his shoulder.

"Santa Land Express," read the dwarf. "Take a pack of cards. Dear me, I have no cards!"

M. Dilly promptly pulled a pack of cards from his vest pocket. "A magician always carries cards," he said.

"Good, good," said George George. "Well, now, it says here to build a house out of the cards."

Henry and Mr. Dilly immediately set about building a house out of the cards. They had a hard time of it because each time just as they were about to put on the roof the whole thing fell to the ground.

Finally Mr. Dilly pulled out his magic wand and said some magic words and after that the house of cards stood up fine.

"Now, get in the house," said George George.

"Swigger swagger, digger digger!" exclaimed Serena, forgetting her promise not to rhyme.

"Don't worry," said George George. "You'll fit." He pulled a tiny red chimney from his brief case and put it on top of the card house.

Immediately a strange thing happened:

the house began to get bigger and bigger until finally Mr. Dilly and Henry and Serena could walk right in the front door!

As soon as they were in George George shouted, "Now I am going to shuffle you!"

With that Mr. Dilly and Serena and Henry and all the cards in the house burst into the air with a terrible rippling sound. They slid into each other and around each other and on top of each other until man and boy and duck were so dizzy and so tired they fell asleep.

When they woke they found themselves lying in a snow drift and covered with fifty-two plain, ordinary-sized cards.

"Roll and toss, Middleman boss," squawked Serena. "Wait until I see George George Frothingham again!"

"But look what he has done for us," cried Mr. Dilly. "Surely this must be Santa Land!"

They looked where Mr. Dilly pointed and saw a little white cottage in the snow. Beyond the cottage they saw row on row of work shops. And beyond the workshops they saw reindeer flying above a wind swept field.

"It is!" cried Henry. "It really is Santa Land!"

Whooping with excitement he ran as fast as he could towards the wonderful land.

Littlestown GIRLS' GUILD GIVES PROGRAM

The Girls' Guild of Christ Reformed church, near Littlestown, presented "The Christmas Story" in shadow pictures for the program at the monthly meeting of the Women's Guild held in the Sunday school room on Wednesday night. Ruth Sterner was the Narrator. The cast of characters follows: Mary, Shirley Dutterer; Joseph, Pearl M. Sell; shepherds, Jean Markle, Phyllis Markle and Betty Lou Bair; angels, Audrey Ellen Brumbach, Doris Ridinger, Anna Mae Sell and Janet Sell. Janet Sell sang a solo, "Away in a Manger," accompanied by Mrs. Mervin L. Myers on the piano.

Business of the Women's Guild was conducted by the president, Mrs. Ralph Unger. Mrs. Clair Markle presented the secretary's report and Mrs. Harry E. Bair the treasurer's report. Mrs. Bair also reported on the Thank-Offering service, which was held in the church on November 27. Mrs. Mervin Myers gave her report on the birthday fund. Contributions to this fund were made on Wednesday night by Mrs. Laverne Mummert, Mrs. Richard Withers and Mrs. Roy Sterner, whose birthdays were observed. The committee consisting of Mrs. Laverne Mummert and Mrs. Clair Markle, who had been appointed at a previous meeting to purchase Christmas gifts for some of the Guild projects, reported that they had performed their duties.

Prayer calendars for 1950 were distributed at the meeting. The president re-appointed Mrs. Stanley R. Sell as secretary of the special fund and Mrs. Mervin L. Myers, secretary of the birthday fund, for the coming year.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday, January 4, 1950 at 7:30 p. m. in the Sunday school room.

Mrs. Charles Groft, East King street extended, Littlestown, and her twin sister, Mrs. William Abels, Maple avenue, Hanover, celebrated their 71st birthday anniversary at the home of Mrs. Groft on Thursday. A surprise birthday dinner was served at noon, which was attended by Mrs. Abels' daughter, Mrs. Joseph Strausbaugh and son, John, York, and the twin brother-in-law, Albert Arentz, Hanover, and his daughter, Mrs. Curvin Smith, Hanover, and Mrs. Groft's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Groft and children.

A two-tier decorated birthday cake occupied the center of the dinner table and the room was decorated with flowers. The twins were the recipients of many gifts and cards. They were also visited by many local friends and neighbors.

A Christmas party will be held in connection with the monthly meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Ocker Snyder Post No. 321, American Legion, in the post home, East King street, on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. There will be an exchange of gifts by the auxiliary sisters. Hostesses for the meeting will be Mrs. Donald B. Coover, Mrs. J. Ray Reindollar, Mrs. Wilbur E. # AUSTRALIANS VOTE SATURDAY

Sydney, Australia, Dec. 9 (AP)—Socialism or free enterprise? That is a clear-cut issue in Australia's critical general election tomorrow.

The Labor party of Prime Minister J. B. Chifley, a former locomotive driver, has been in power eight years. It has a long-range program of nationalization. It believes government controls are needed to stabilize the nation's economy and insure full employment.

The opposition promises to halt nationalization and the Australian leftward trend. Labor and Socialism went down to defeat in neighboring New Zealand last week and the opposition hopes that is a sign of the future.

The anti-Labor opposition in Australia comes from two parties, the Liberal party and the Country party, which promise to work in unison should Labor be defeated. The Liberals are led by former Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies, a lawyer. Leader of the Country party—strong in rural areas—is Arthur W. Fadden, an accountant. Menzies would be the next prime minister should the coalition win.

Nearly 5,000,000 voters will ballot

Santa AND THE MAGICIAN

THEY SLID INTO EACH OTHER AND AROUND EACH OTHER UNTIL MAN AND BOY AND DUCK WERE DIZZY.

Chapter 5
MAGIC ROUTE TO SANTA LAND

"Gladys Hadys!" exclaimed Serena when she saw what was in the dwarf's brief case. "What important looking papers!"

Promptly George George Frothingham began repacking the papers. "I positively will go no further, Serena, unless you cut out that rhyming."

"Slogum Po—" began Serena. "I mean—certainly. If you can't appreciate poetry—"

"Poetry!" snapped the dwarf. "If—"

Mr. Dilly quickly interrupted. "What are those strange papers in your brief case, Mr. Frothingham?" "They are maps and time tables I have collected over many centuries," said the dwarf, dumping the stuff out again. "By studying them carefully you can find your way to most anywhere. Here, for instance, is a route I mapped to the moon."

He drew out a long narrow ribbon of paper covered with strange numbers and letters. He studied it proudly. "You go in your backyard at one minute past midnight on the first night of the new moon in the last month of summer," he read. "Carry in your left pants' pocket a pound of black eyed peas and in your right pocket a thimble."

"What are they for?" gasped Henry.

"The peas are to pay your fare. Immediately a strange thing happened: the house began to get bigger and bigger until finally Mr. Dilly and Henry and Serena could walk right in the front door!

As soon as they were in George George shouted, "Now I am going to shuffle you!"

With that Mr. Dilly and Serena and Henry and all the cards in the house burst into the air with a terrible rippling sound. They slid into each other and around each other and on top of each other until man and boy and duck were so dizzy and so tired they fell asleep.

When they woke they found themselves lying in a snow drift and covered with fifty-two plain, ordinary-sized cards.

"Roll and toss, Middleman boss," squawked Serena. "Wait until I see George George Frothingham again!"

"But look what he has done for us," cried Mr. Dilly. "Surely this must be Santa Land!"

They looked where Mr. Dilly pointed and saw a little white cottage in the snow. Beyond the cottage they saw row on row of work shops. And beyond the workshops they saw reindeer flying above a wind swept field.

"It is!" cried Henry. "It really is Santa Land!"

Whooping with excitement he ran as fast as he could towards the wonderful land.

Next: Santa Plans a Party.

About 42 feet of rain falls on Mt. Waialeale in the Hawaiian Islands in an average year.

"Good, good," said George George. "Well, now, it says here to build a house out of the cards."

Henry and Mr. Dilly immediately set about building a house out of the cards. They had a hard time of it because each time just as they were about to put on the roof the whole thing fell to the ground.

Finally Mr. Dilly pulled out his magic wand and said some magic words and after that the house of cards stood up fine.

"Now, get in the house," said George George.

"Swigger swagger, digger digger!" exclaimed Serena, forgetting her promise not to rhyme.

"Don't worry," said George George. "You'll fit." He pulled a tiny red chimney from his brief case and put it on top of the card house.

Immediately a strange thing hap-

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

Recent Brides Are Guests at Colorful Tea: One of the outstanding social events of the early winter was the tea given Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Arthur E. Rice and Mrs. M. I. Dill at the former's home in Biglerville in honor of Mrs. Rice's sister-in-law, Mrs. John S. Rice, of Gettysburg, and Mrs. Dill's daughter, Mrs. Joseph E. Gilmour, of Philadelphia, both of whom were recent brides.

The guests were received in the colorful setting of the sun parlor to which vases of roses and snapdragons added a festive note.

Couple Weds at Seminary: The wedding of Miss Janet Biesecker, of Oortanna, and the Rev. Herbert H. Schmidt, pastor of the Mt. Joy-Harney Lutheran charge, took place in the seminary chapel Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The bride was given in marriage by her father, John E. Biesecker. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Herbert C. Alleman.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Oyler Observe Golden Wedding: Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Oyler observed their 50th wedding anniversary at their home, 228 Chambersburg street, Friday evening surrounded by their children, grandchildren, neighbors and friends. About 50 persons were in attendance.

Poling Gives Address Before "Y" Unit: One hundred and fifty delegates from eastern Pennsylvania colleges were here Saturday for the annual fall conference of college Young Men's Christian Associations being held at Gettysburg college. The conference lasted from Friday to Sunday morning.

Featuring the opening session was an address by Dr. Daniel A. Poling, prominent New York city clergyman, at Christ Lutheran church, Friday evening. The speaker's theme was "Christ or Chaos?" The church was filled for the service. Dr. Calvey C. Ellis, of Juniata college, presided.

Circle Burns Note for Organ: Featuring a banquet of Trinity Circle, of the Reformed church Tuesday evening, was the burning of a note given in payment for the pipe organ installed in the church in September, 1932.

Of the total amount paid for the organ, $4,000, Trinity Circle raised approximately $2,500.

As Mrs. Harry Lower, president of Trinity Circle, touched a match to the note, the group sang "Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow."

Today's Talk

THE TRAVELER'S AID

For years I have travelled all over America, and in most of all the railroad stations I have noted kindly faced women in neat uniforms, at a desk, or walking around in crowds, hunting out those that they might help in some way or other. Thousands of strangers, many from foreign lands, arrive daily at boat landings and in stations all over the Western country, who look about them in wonder, and often in a confused manner.

It is to these people that thousands of travellers owe more than they can express, for they have been helped and befriended by these noble and self-sacrificing Traveler's Aid servants for more than a half century. I understand that this fine Society was initiated through the generous gift of a wealthy man who died many years ago. But this work goes on and on and is today largely kept alive and useful through voluntary gifts. I have an idea that many a gift has come from those helped in former years.

A sharp eye is kept on children and young people who travel alone, as well as on those who might be misled in one way or another by unsuspecting evil doers. These Traveler's Aid people know human nature, and are alert, considerate and kindly. They perform a wonderful service wherever they are stationed. Any traveller is always safe in their hands.

I have sat in many a railroad station and watched these tireless people work. I have seen them "spot" a lonely person, or one with many a question on his mind, or one who seemed confused and "lost." These Aids are selfless workers, and I feel sure that they love their work, for their faces seem to say just that. I am told that there seems to be no end to the good services of these people who keep the Traveler's Aid Society a vital institution throughout America. Certainly it deserves wholehearted support, as one of democracy's outstretching arms. I wish that I might salute each worker!

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

SHOPPING
Windows filled with all things nice,
Fashioned shoppers to entice.
Wives and husbands passing by
To the great displays to eye,
And if either one should say:
"I'd like that for Christmas Day!"
Then the other standing near
Mum! pretending not to hear.

Hand in hand a loving pair
Window shopping stand and stare,
If some trinket she admires,
That is all that he desires.
There his Christmas worries close.
What will please her, now he knows.
That he heard he won't betray,
But she'll have it, Christmas Day.

At the toy shops Santa Claus
Serving childhood's glorious cause,
As the grandpas stand about
Have their wants the children shout.

Grandpas may be deaf and miss
If they whispered hints like this:
"I want roller skates, a sleigh,
And a drum on Christmas Day."

Sunday School Lesson

JEEREMIAH TEACHES PERSONAL RELIGION

By Rev. Howard R. Gold, D.D.
Margaret C. Gold
Jeremiah 8:4-7; 31:29-34

Memory selection: I will put my law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts. Jeremiah 31:33. Emphasis was placed on the nation or state instead of the individual in the centuries before Christ. In man's early history all that seemed to matter was the family.

TELL OF THREAT IN MURDER CASE

West Chester, Pa., Dec. 9 (AP)—A seventh-grade pupil told a murder trial jury yesterday he threatened to shoot his father for beating his mother a few minutes before the father was killed.

The boy's grandfather, Wade Kirby, 73, is charged with murder in the death of Robert G. Asbury, 44-year-old mushroom worker. Asbury's 32-year-old widow testified that before Asbury was shot, he threatened to kill her 12-year-old son, Bobby, and Kirby.

Mrs. Mary Liz Asbury told the court that while Asbury was beating her, Bobby seized a .32 caliber revolver.

"I told daddy if he didn't stop beating mother I would shoot," the boy testified. Both mother and son were state witnesses. Then, they both testified, Asbury threatened to "kill you all" because "you have turned my son against me."

The boy's grandfather, Kirby, took the gun away from him as the lad started up a flight of stairs, Mrs. Asbury said. Then, she added, her husband started up the stairs, and met the older man.

According to her testimony, the two men fought and two shots were fired. Asbury died six hours later, the night of November 4, with two bullet wounds in his abdomen.

Chapter 30

How Kelly stopped and looked anxiously at Arieta. "Wouldn't you like something stronger than coffee, Chips?" he asked. "I'm going to really hand it to you."

The dark head shook a negative. "He took it standing, didn't he? He let Ace Lane kill him."

"It wasn't Ace, Chips; it was his wife, Allene's Mother, Floss Du-bois, a sharp-shooting girl he'd picked up at a carnival he was working. Ace wasn't a gunman. I think the confession we're going to get from her—"

Arieta lifted her head. That look she'd seen on the woman's face. Not hatred, but fear, cold, frozen fear. And because she could think of no reason Mrs. Lane should fear her, she had not recognized it.

"I've used that 'double murder' in a dozen different stories," How confessed; "couldn't quite figure the timing. Now I understand. Ace went out, unarmed. He didn't know his wife was following with her rifle."

"I believe," said Kelly, "that she shot your father from behind Ace. That then she went over to your father, perhaps telling the stunned Ace they'd make it look like suicide, that she'd use the rifle he carried, shoot it and let the coroner consider it suicide without checking the bullet. Instead she then picked up your father's gun, and fired that at her husband, whom she hated."

"Wait," objected Leta. "Even a coroner would know that first shot came from a distance."

"A man stunned at seeing a former friend, a now hated enemy, fall before his face from a shot fired by his wife, wouldn't stop to think of that, would he?"

Kelly glanced at his watch. "They should be here now. Of course Caro had a lot to do—write the story and—"

"Caro?" Arieta looked up. Couldn't How Kelly live without that lovely blonde in the background? And then other memories flooded over her.

They heard a car drive in. It was Kelly who went to the door.

"This," said a man's voice, "is most irregular. Do you realize it is three o'clock?"

"Meet up with the Reverend Claiborne," said How cheerfully as Arieta tried to gather her robe and her dignity about her.

"Most irregular," repeated the Reverend after one horrified glance at the crimson-clad Arieta.

"You see worse on the beach every day of the summer."

Arieta felt the world dissolve from under her feet. Caro was coming.

How as going to marry Caro. She couldn't face it. Not after this night with all that it held. She wouldn't. She'd get into her still damp suit and go on trudging down the road until some dawn bus picked her up.

"Is this the young lady?" inquired the Reverend Claiborne.

"Yes, you'll have to forgive her present attire. She was marked for murder and got wet and this red thing-a-ma-sig was all she had left."

Slowly a change came over Arieta. Her black hair was tossed back. Her hands came to her hips. Her heels dug into the floor.

"How Kelly, this has gone far enough. I am not marrying Cal Sheridan, tonight or any other night. You can boss me only so far, but I will not marry—"

"I'll say you're not," agreed Kelly; "you're marrying me."

"You!" she blurted.

"You can't live here with me without marrying me; think what Mrs. Cotsen would say."

"Cotsen! How," she even forgot the ridiculous words he'd been saying, "where did she fit into this?"

"Where do most Mad-mouthed women fit in?" he asked. "She was the go-between. . . . Here comes Caro."

It wasn't just Caro who arrived but a dozen of her girl friends and a dozen of How's men friends and a few under-sheriffs. And behind them came Mr. Carson, carried in, and Chita and her underlings, who were carrying covered platters.

"I did the best I could," laughed Caro, breaking the string on a box, "but the only storekeeper I could haul out of bed had nothing white but this. Kind of nice, though, and you can wear it all summer."

Arieta stood and stared.

"You are going to marry How, aren't you?" asked the bewildered Caro.

"He's never asked me," Arieta replied.

"How Kelly, come here this instant," Caro called, and How came to the doorway, brows meeting shaggy over frowning eyes. "Leta says you didn't propose."

"Of course I didn't," he agreed. "The only way to handle that girl is to go ahead. Heck, Caro, I've got to marry her. I can't spend the rest of my life running all over the country looking after her. I've got to have her here where I can watch her while I make a living for us."

"That makes sense," conceded Arieta. "Then get out while I dress."

They said she made a lovely bride. They said the wedding breakfast, served in the pearly gray of pre-

CHINA HEADS FOR NEW TRIALS IN GUERRILLA WAR

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

China's civil conflict appears to be entering a new and perhaps even more terrible phase—the waging of guerrilla strife by the Nationalists against the now victorious Communist armies.

This means underground fighting. It means stealthy blows struck under cloak of night when no man knows whether he is facing friend or foe. It means destruction by the torch. It means the awful plague of the scorched earth for the hungry masses.

The orthodox phase of the protracted warfare was formally ended yesterday when the Nationalist government abandoned its temporary capital at Chengtu, western China, and flew to Formosa. This great island off the southeast coast has been turned into a fortress by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and is defended by some 300,000 troops, supported by an air force.

Pulling Troops Back

Formosa long ago was prepared by the "Gimbo," as they call Chiang, for his last ditch stand. There the government will have its seat. From there the Nationalist forces on the continent will be directed.

Thus Formosa becomes the symbol of all Nationalist China. So long as the flag still flies over this strategic island, and guerrilla Nationalists continue the fight on the continent, just so long can Chiang still maintain that his government is a going concern.

The Nationalist troops which were defending the government in the temporary capital of Chengtu are being pulled back further westward to Sichang, in Sikang province. This will be mainland headquarters.

down, was delicious. They said they really had to go.

And they went, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kelly stood at a window and watched dawn come in.

She was glad now that the big house was sold. She was relieved there would be no Lanes to consider and ashamed of the relief. There remained only Cal who'd come West, opened a business because of her.

Kelly chuckled. "Funny thing, Caro has a real yen for Cal. And he likes her. Could be she'd make a Westerner out of him. Where you going, Chips?"

"To see the Duchess and then to take down those kitchen curtains."

(THE END)

Art Masterpieces Popular on Christmas Cards

The great religious paintings of Renaissance Italy, Holland, and France have never lost their warm appeal for the American public. The popularity of religious Christmas cards has reached an all-time peak, with reproductions of the Old Masters in heavy demand. Best loved are Raphael's famed "Madonna of the Chair" and "Holy Family with Lamb," and Murillo's painting of the Holy Mother with angels. The "Madonna of the Stable" is by a modern master, Berta Hummel, the Bavarian nun who died in 1946 at the age of 37 after devoting her life to painting children, angels, and Bethlehem scenes.

pending further developments. Whether this force will be split up into guerrilla contingents probably will depend on developments.

The loss of Chengtu and surrounding territory is a serious blow to the Nationalists. My colleague, Charles A. Grumich, who served as an AP correspondent in China and now is on the AP staff with the United Nations, says the Chinese Reds in their sweep on Chengtu are grabbing probably the richest farmlands in the world.

Grumich also reminds us that Chengtu was the center of airfields that launched the first land-based attacks on Japan by the B-29s of the American 20th Bomber Command in 1944.

And what does the future hold for Chengtu and this rich farming area? Certainly the picture isn't bright, with the Chinese Reds rushing in for battle with the Nationalist army to the west. There is, of course, the possibility of much fighting, especially of the guerrilla type.

Receiver For "Little Helpers" Is Guilty

Philadelphia, Dec. 9 (AP)—A 27-year-old man was convicted of receiving stolen goods from a range of teen-age boys known as the "Little Helpers."

Detectives at the trial of Irving Bennett said yesterday the boys learned where valuables were to be had and how to get at them by hanging around market places and offering to carry packages home for women.

Judge Vincent A. Carroll sentenced Bennett to 23 months in prison but suspended the sentence on condition he leave the city within 23 months. If not, he was to serve the full term.

Bennett pleaded guilty to a charge of receiving a stolen $450 violin. He

Chapter 30

How Kelly stopped and looked anxiously at Arleta. "Wouldn't you like something stronger than coffee, Chips?" he asked. "I'm going to really hand it to you."

The dark head shook a negative. "He took it standing, didn't he? He let Ace Lane kill him."

"It wasn't Ace, Chips: it was his wife, Allene's Mother, Floss Du-bois, a sharp-shooting girl he'd picked up at a carnival he was working. Ace wasn't a gunman, I think the confession we're going to get from her—"

Arleta lifted her head. That look she'd seen on the woman's face. Not hatred, but fear, cold, frozen fear. And because she could think of no reason Mrs. Lane should fear her, she had not recognized it.

"I've used that 'double murder' in a dozen different stories," How confessed; "couldn't quite figure the timing. Now I understand. Ace went out, unnamed. He didn't know his wife was following with her rifle."

"I believe," said Kelly, "that she shot your father from behind. Ace. That then she went over to your father, perhaps telling the stunned Ace they'd make it look like suicide, that she'd use the rifle he carried, shoot it and let the coroner consider it suicide without checking the bullet. Instead she then picked up your father's gun, and fired that at her husband, whom she hated."

"Wait," objected Leta. "Even a coroner would know that first shot came from a distance."

"A man stunned at seeing a former friend, a now hated enemy, fall before his face from a shot fired by his wife, wouldn't stop to think of that, would he?"

Kelly glanced at his watch. "They should be here now. Of course Caro had a lot to do—write the story and—"

"Caro?" Arleta looked up. Couldn't How Kelly live without that lovely blonde in the background? And then other memories flooded over her.

They heard a car drive in. It was Kelly who went to the door.

"This," said a man's voice, "is most irregular. Do you realize it is three o'clock?"

"Meet up with the Reverend Claiborne," said How cheerfully as Arleta tried to gather her robe and her dignity about her.

"Most irregular," repeated the Reverend after one horrified glance at the crimson-clad Arleta.

"You see worse on the beach every day of the summer."

Arleta felt the world dissolve from under her feet. Caro was coming.

CHINA HEADS FOR NEW TRIALS IN GUERRILLA WAR

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

China's civil conflict appears to be entering a new and perhaps even more terrible phase—the waging of guerrilla strife by the Nationalists against the now victorious Communist armies.

This means underground fighting. It means stealthy blows struck under cloak of night when no man knows whether he is facing friend or foe. It means destruction by the torch. It means the awful plague of the scorched earth for the hungry masses.

The orthodox phase of the protracted warfare was formally ended yesterday when the Nationalist government abandoned its temporary capital at Chengtu, western China, and flew to Formosa. This great island off the southeast coast has been turned into a fortress by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and is defended by some 300,000 troops, supported by an air force.

Pulling Troops Back

Formosa long ago was prepared by the "Gimo," as they call Chiang, for his last ditch stand. There the government will have its seat. From there the Nationalist forces on the continent will be directed.

This Formosa becomes the symbol of all Nationalist China. So long as the flag still flies over this strategic island, and guerrilla Nationalists continue the fight on the continent, just so long as Chiang still maintain that his government is a going concern.

The Nationalist troops which were defending the government in the temporary capital of Chengtu are being pulled back further westward to Sichang, in Sikang province. This will be mainland headquarters.

pending further developments. Whether this force will be split up into guerrilla contingents probably will depend on developments.

The loss of Chengtu and surrounding territory is a serious blow to the Nationalists. My colleague, Charles A. Grumich, who served as an AP correspondent in China and now is on the AP staff with the United Nations, says the Chinese Reds in their sweep on Chengtu are grabbing probably the richest farmlands in the world.

Grumich also reminds us that Chengtu was the center of airfields that launched the first land-based attacks on Japan by the B-29s of the American 20th Bomber Command in 1944.

And what does the future hold for Chengtu and this rich farming area? Certainly the picture isn't bright, with the Chinese Reds rushing in for battle with the Nationalist army to the west. There is, of course, the possibility of much fighting, especially of the guerrilla type.

Nationalist tactics, as envisaged by observers, may involve creation of a considerable number of guerrilla "pockets" on the mainland to harass the Communist forces. These pockets could be supplied by airplanes from Formosa. Paratroopers from the island might also be dropped at strategic points to help organize peasant uprisings against the Communists.

If all these things materialize, the country's 400 millions may go through a hell which will make past trials seem mild.

Art Masterpieces Popular on Christmas Cards

The great religious paintings of Renaissance Italy, Holland, and France have never lost their warm appeal for the American public. The popularity of religious Christmas cards has reached an all-time peak, with reproductions of the Old Masters in heavy demand. Best loved are Raphael's famed "Masters of the Chair" and "Masters of the Stable," and Murillo's painting of the Holy Mother with angels. The "Masters of the Stable" is by a modern master, Berta Hummel, the Bavarian nun who died in 1946 at the age of 37 after devoting her life to painting children, angels, and Bethlehem scenes.

Receiver For "Little Helpers" Is Guilty

Philadelphia, Dec. 9 (AP)—A 27-year-old man was convicted of receiving stolen goods from a gang of teen-age boys known as the "Little Helpers."

Detectives at the trial of Irving Bennett said yesterday the boys learned where valuables were to be had and how to get at them by hanging around market places and offering to carry packages home for women.

Judge Vincent A. Carroll sentenced Bennett to 23 months in prison but suspended the sentence on condition he leave the city within 23 months. If not, he was to serve the full term.

Bennett pleaded guilty to a charge of receiving a stolen $450 violin. He said he thought it valuable and gave one of the boys only an old pair of shoes for it. He said he gave the violin away to an herb doctor in south Philadelphia. The gang of ten boys is in custody. Their names were withheld because they range from 13 to 15 years of age.

Many a man who can take things philosophically can't part with them that way.

BULGARIAN SAYS ANTI-RED PLOT COST MILLIONS

Sofia, Bulgaria, Dec. 9 (AP)—One of Bulgaria's richest men admitted on trial today that he joined the Communist party after World War II, then recruited former industrialists for an anti-Russian sabotage program that cost his country's economy more than $45,000,000.

The wealthy land and rubber tycoon, 65-year-old Ivan Gevrenov, entered the seventh guilty plea in Bulgaria's trial of 11 former government and business leaders on charges of treason, espionage and sabotage.

All are accused of plotting to take Bulgaria out of the Russian orbit and put it under the influence of Yugoslav Premier Marshal Tito.

The government called Gevrenov, who once headed Bulgaria's rubber industry, one of the greatest saboteurs in the country.

Helped British
Gevrenov told the seven-man court today that in 1947 he supplied the British Intelligence service with information on the production capacity of Bulgaria's most important industrial enterprises. Such information is considered a state secret in Communist countries.

The industrial baron said he joined the Communist party after the Russian liberation of Bulgaria in 1944. He described another confessed defendant, former Communist Finance Minister Ivan Stefanov, as "favoring the capitalist system."

Gevrenov testified Stefanov told him Bulgarians were "energetically working for orientation toward the West" in a movement headed by former Communist Deputy Premier Traicho Kostov, the chief defendant in the current treason trial.

(Kostov, accused of being Bulgaria's major Communist traitor, has repudiated those portions of his pre-trial confession in which he admitted conspiring with agents of Tito and of Britain.)

Editor Fired In Red Czech Purge

Prague, Czechoslovakia, Dec. 9 (AP)—The purge of Czechoslovakia's Communist party hit the Reds hard command today with the official announcement that Vilen Novy had been fired as editor-in-chief of the party organ, Rude Pravo.

Novy was fired, an official announcement said, for "a crude violation of Bolshevik watchfulness."

He was a veteran party member. Earlier this week Novy's resignation from the national parliament, "because of illness," was announced.

Novy's ouster was announced only a few hours after Rudolf Slansky, Communist party general secretary, had declared in a speech that Czech Communist ranks had been infiltrated by "hostile agents and Imperialist spies" and must be thoroughly purged.

ADEQUACY OF BLIND PENSION TO BE PROBED

Harrisburg, Dec. 9 (AP)—Adequacy of blind pensions topped a list today of six aspects of state relief costs under investigation by a legislative committee.

All but 500 of 15,000 currently receiving blind payments would get increased benefits if the commonwealth took advantage of federal grants, said Sen. Fred P. Hare (R-Somerset).

Hare heads a sub-committee of the legislature's joint state government commission which is trying to find out why relief will cost the state $161,000,000 in the next two years.

At present, blind pensioners who earn less than $1,800 a year are entitled to state payments of $40 a month. They are not required to show need except for the income limitation.

Defeated Bill Last Year

The Federal Security Administration has refused to allocate funds to Pennsylvania unless a definite need is established by blind persons. With this money, Hare said, blind pensioners could get as much as $4,000,000 a year more if federal requirements were met. Blind pensions then would run as high as $60 monthly, he added.

The Pennsylvania Federation of the Blind beat down attempts in the House last April to enact a Senate-passed bill to take advantage of the federal grants. Federation spokesmen said at that time that blind persons would virtually have to take a pauper's oath to qualify for payments under the federal plan.

Meanwhile the sub-committee already has started a sampling of six per cent of 50,000 general assistance cases affecting 125,000 persons in an effort to gauge personal, job, budget and other characteristics of persons receiving relief.

TREE FALLS ON AXMAN

York, Pa., Dec. 9 (AP)—Sixty-seven-year old Edwin Young chopped down a tree on his farm at nearby Freysville yesterday. The tree fell on top of him. Forty-five minutes later, Young died at York hospital. Deputy Coroner Ralph Keach said both his legs had been fractured.

Railway and highway culverts make ideal locations for beaver dams and hence beavers become a nuisance when roads and railroads are built.

FOUR PULLMANS UPSET

Pittsburgh, Dec. 9 (AP)—Four of the last five Pullmans in the 13-car east-bound Penn-Texas limited of the Pennsylvania Railroad were derailed last night 150 yards east of the suburban Carnegie station. No one was injured. The cars did not overturn. Passengers were put aboard other cars and the train proceeded two hours late.

TRUMAN HEALTH BILL DUE FOR BITTER FIGHT

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, Dec. 9 (AP)—You don't have to be a prophet to see what's coming: The endless, bitter arguments in 1950 over the President's National Health Insurance program.

If I had to bet, I'd bet it doesn't pass in Congress next year. There's support for it there, but a lot of opposition. Mr. Truman's friends may not even try to bring it up for action in Congress in 1950.

Instead, they may leave it in the talking stage and then make it a campaign issue in the congressional elections late in 1950. Just the same, there'll be no lack of talk about it. Just as there was no lack in 1949.

Mr. Truman had been urging a national health insurance plan for years. He handed it to Congress last April. Very briefly, this is an outline of it:

Payroll Tax
About 120,000,000 Americans would be covered. The bill says the program would be financed by a payroll tax of 3 per cent, split between employers and employees on the first $4,800 of a worker's pay.

And the government would chip in some money which, of course, would come from other taxes. Total cost a year? Trumanites say: Maybe $5 billion. Opponents say: A lot more than that.

Oscar Ewing, head of the Federal Security administration which includes the public health service, is in Europe now examining health programs there.

He'll have plenty to say when he returns on January—which is when Congress returns—since he's one of the main pluggers for the Truman program. And the President can be expected to say more in 1950.

But so will the American Medical Association (AMA) have plenty to say, since it's the most vocal and active opponent of Mr. Truman's ideas on health. What the AMA did yesterday leaves no doubt of what it will do and say in 1950.

AMA Assesses Members
AMA officials call the Truman plan "socialized" medicine. (Trumanites deny there's anything socialistic about it at all. They say it's simply a long overdue plan for the country's general health.)

Pointing to the tax workers would have to pay for the program—if Congress approved it—AMA officials have called it an "extreme example of compulsory paternalism."

Yesterday the AMA decided to assess its members $25 each, per year, to fight the program. AMA officials called this a voluntary assessment.

Most doctors are members of AMA although not all of them oppose the Truman plan. Those that won't pay will be expelled. No member has to pay dues now.

It was estimated his method will raise around $3 million a year with which AMA can fight the Truman insurance program and do other things.

House Spy Probers, Tracing Atomic Leaks To Reds, Turn Eyes Toward Canada

INQUIRY MAY BECOME HOT
ISSUE IN '50

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Washington, Dec. 9 (AP)—House spy probers tracing reported uranium leaks to Russia turned their eyes toward Canada today amid indications that their inquiry may become a hot 1950 political issue.

Two investigators for the un-American Activities Committee were reported in Canada, where an official confirmed yesterday that 1,000 pounds of uranium compounds were shipped to Russia via Great Falls, Mont., in 1943.

Committee sources insisted that these two developments were not related, but reports persisted that the committee may renew its once-abandoned effort to obtain records of a court action in New York by the Canadian government in connection with uranium sales.

Probe "Reactivated"
Louis J. Russell, senior committee investigator, has said the probe of the Canadian angle has been "re-activated."

Russell is one of two agents committee sources said left for Canada Wednesday night after the committee had questioned Lt. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, retired, wartime head of the United States' atomic bomb project.

The investigators are due to return before the committee's next scheduled hearing on December 19, when two former minor officials connected with the lend-lease program are to be quizzed.

On that date, also, the committee may reach a final decision on former Vice President Henry A. Wallace's request for a hearing.

Wallace Objects
Wallace made his request after Radio Commentator Fulton Lewis, Jr., named him as a source of pressure to expedite wartime atomic shipments to Russia. Wallace has denied that.

Last night Wallace objected to the committee's delay in hearing him. He told the committee the delay made the committee "a party to this attempt at character assassination."

Russell told the committee last Monday that a Canadian company supplied 1,000 pounds of uranium compounds for shipment to the Soviet Union. Later, he said, the Canadian government filed a civil action in New York against an official of the company but the court records were impounded following settlement of the case.

The committee tried to get the records once before, Russell said, but gave up when the State Department intervened "in the interest of the national security of Canada."

Another political development cropped up in the atomic controversy with a report that Groves is considering running for the Senate from Connecticut as a Republican. In that case, he would oppose Chairman McMahon, Democrat, of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee.

Groves' associates say he has not been able to win the approval of party heads who currently prefer Rep. Lodge or former Representative Clare Boothe Luce.

FAIRFIELD FIRE HALLOPEN SEASON
ON ANTLERLESS
DEER SATURDAY

Harrisburg, Dec. 9 (AP)—Pennsylvania's deer hunters, winding up an excellent buck hunting season today, will go in quest of antlerless deer tomorrow.

The state Game Commission said that final tabulations of the legal kill of the antlered variety are expected to top last year's total of 33,608.

The one-day antlerless season, last held in 1947, is expected to yield just as good a kill proportionately.

Sportsmen and farmers in seven counties petitioned off tomorrow's special season. Counties in which deer hunting will be illegal tomorrow are Bedford, Clearfield, Forest, Fulton, Franklin, Greene and Perry.

Four Fatalities
The commission credited the high kill this year to rapid multiplication of the species and to the presence of snow, making the animals easier to track down. The northern tier of Pennsylvania counties has had some snow during the 11-day buck hunting season.

Commission officials suggested that hunters stalk their prey in forested areas bordering on farmland, for there the deer cause harm by chewing up farm products. Other good hunting places, the commission said, are deep in the heart of forest lands, where large numbers of deer have been depleting their own food supply.

Only four fatalities among hunters have been reported this year, as compared to a total of nine in 1948. Injuries also are believed running short, although statistics can not be completed for some time.

today following a four-day wildcat strike involving 3,000 construction workers.

The strike ended yesterday in a brisk back-to-work movement that saw about 65 per cent of the workmen on the job by nightfall. Contractors planned full-scale operations today.

End of the first walkout in the history of this war-born atomic city came after union heads of the Knoxville building trades council (AFL) agreed Wednesday night to try to persuade members to return to work. The strikers were members of the council, but its spokesmen disclaimed responsibility for the unauthorized walkout.

Cause of the strike was never stated officially. It was understood individual workers started the walkout because Oman construction company of Nashville, Tenn., was using some non-union men in laying a natural gas pipeline into the Oak Ridge area.

The demand for beaver pelts is said to have been the principal reason for the exploration and development of Canada.

Indict Comber For Assault, Battery

Philadelphia, Dec. 9 (AP)—The 31-year-old bartender, James Comber, who was acquitted on a murder charge here last week, has been indicted for assault and battery and aggravated assault and battery.

The charges grew out of the death of Hubert E. Madden, sales executive, whom Comber was previously charged with slaying. An all-woman jury is under investigation as a result of the acquittal.

Comber surrendered to police in Hyattsville, Md., Wednesday, but announced he would fight extradition to Pennsylvania. He was released in $1,500 bail.

Louis J. Russell, senior committee investigator, has said the probe of the Canadian angle has been "reactivated."

Russell is one of two agents committee sources said left for Canada Wednesday night after the committee had questioned Lt. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, retired, wartime head of the United States atomic bomb project.

The investigators are due to return before the committee's next scheduled hearing on December 19, when two former minor officials connected with the lend-lease program are to be quizzed.

On that date, also, the committee may reach a final decision on former Vice President Henry A. Wallace's request for a hearing.

Wallace Objects
Wallace made his request after Radio Commentator Fulton Lewis, Jr., named him as a source of pressure to expedite wartime atomic shipments to Russia. Wallace has denied that.

Last night Wallace objected to the committee's delay in hearing him. He told the committee the delay made the committee "a party to this attempt at character assassination."

Russell told the committee last Monday that a Canadian company supplied 1,000 pounds of uranium compounds for shipment to the Soviet Union. Later, he said, the Canadian government filed a civil action in New York against an official of the company but the court records were impounded following settlement of the case.

The committee tried to get the records once before, Russell said, but gave up when the State Department intervened "in the interest of the national security of Canada."

Another political development cropped up in the atomic controversy with a report that Groves is considering running for the Senate from Connecticut as a Republican. In that case, he would oppose Chairman McMahon, Democrat, of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee.

Groves' associates say he has not been able to win the approval of party heads who currently prefer Rep. Lodge or former Representative Clare Boothe Luce.

OPEN SEASON ON ANTLERLESS DEER SATURDAY

Harrisburg, Dec. 9 (AP)—Pennsylvania's deer hunters, winding up an excellent buck hunting season today, will go in quest of antlerless deer tomorrow.

The state Game Commission said that final tabulations of the legal kill of the antlered variety are expected to top last year's total of 33,608.

The one-day antlerless season, last held in 1947, is expected to yield just as good a kill proportionately.

Sportsmen and farmers in seven counties petitioned off tomorrow's special season. Counties in which deer hunting will be illegal tomorrow are Bedford, Clearfield, Forest, Fulton, Franklin, Greene and Perry.

kill this year to rapid multiplication of the species and to the presence of snow, making the animals easier to track down. The northern tier of Pennsylvania counties has had some snow during the 11-day buck hunting season.

Commission officials suggested that hunters stalk their prey in forested areas bordering on farmland, for there the deer cause harm by chewing up farm products. Other good hunting places, the commission said, are deep in the heart of forest lands, where large numbers of deer have been depleting their own food supply.

Only four fatalities among hunters have been reported this year, as compared to a total of nine in 1948. Injuries also are believed running short, although statistics can not be completed for some time.

today following a four-day wildcat strike involving 3,000 construction workers.

The strike ended yesterday in a brisk back-to-work movement that saw about 65 per cent of the workmen on the job by nightfall. Contractors planned full-scale operations today.

End of the first walkout in the history of this war-born atomic city came after union heads of the Knoxville building trades council (AFL) agreed Wednesday night to try to persuade members to return to work. The strikers were members of the council, but its spokesmen disclaimed responsibility for the unauthorized walkout.

Cause of the strike was never stated officially. It was understood individual workers started the walkout because Oman construction company of Nashville, Tenn., was using some non-union men in laying a natural gas pipeline into the Oak Ridge area.

The demand for beaver pelts is said to have been the principal reason for the exploration and development of Canada.

Indict Comber For Assault, Battery

Philadelphia, Dec. 9 (AP)—The 31-year-old bartender, James Comber, who was acquitted on a murder charge here last week, has been indicted for assault and battery.

The charges grew out of the death of Hubert E. Madden, sales executive, whom Comber was previously charged with slaying. An all-woman jury is under investigation as a result of the acquittal.

Sloane criticized them bitterly for what he called "a miscarriage of justice" and ordered Comber indicted for assault and battery.

Comber surrendered to police in Onions belong to the lily family.

BULGARIAN SAYS ANTI-RED PLOT COST MILLIONS

Sofia, Bulgaria, Dec. 9 (AP)—One of Bulgaria's richest men admitted on trial today that he joined the Communist party after World War II, then recruited former industrialists for an anti-Russian sabotage program that cost his country's economy more than $45,000,000.

The wealthy land and rubber tycoon, 65-year-old Ivan Gevrenov, entered the seventh guilty plea in Bulgaria's trial of 11 former government and business leaders on charges of treason, espionage and sabotage.

All are accused of plotting to take Bulgaria out of the Russian orbit and put it under the influence of Yugoslav Premier Marshal Tito.

The government called Gevrenov, who once headed Bulgaria's rubber industry, one of the greatest saboteurs in the country.

Helped British

Gevrenov told the seven-man court today that in 1947 he supplied the British Intelligence service with information on the production capacity of Bulgaria's most important industrial enterprises. Such information is considered a state secret in Communist countries.

The industrial baron said he joined the Communist party after the Russian liberation of Bulgaria in 1944. He described another confessed defendant, former Communist Finance Minister Ivan Stefanov, as "favoring the capitalist system."

Gevrenov testified Stefanov told him Bulgarians were "energetically working for orientation toward the West" in a movement headed by former Communist Deputy Premier Traicho Kostov, the chief defendant in the current treason trial.

(Kostov, accused of being Bulgaria's major Communist traitor, has repudiated those portions of his pre-trial confession in which he admitted conspiring with agents of Tito and of Britain.)

Editor Fired In Red Czech Purge

Prague, Czechoslovakia, Dec. 9 (AP)—The purge of Czechoslovakia's Communist party hit the Reds high command today with the official announcement that Vilen Novy had been fired as editor-in-chief of the party organ, Rude Pravo.

Novy was fired, an official announcement said, for "a crude violation of Bolshevik watchfulness."

He was a veteran party member. Earlier this week Novy's resignation from the national parliament, "because of illness," was announced.

Novy's ouster was announced only a few hours after Rudolf Slansky, Communist party general secretary, had declared in a speech that Czech Communist ranks had been infiltrated by "hostile agents and Imperialist spies" and must be thoroughly purged.

Certainly you couldn't have been down to Gettysburg Motors Used Car Lot, and seen what they are selling for how much, or you'd never talk that way. ## TRUMAN HEALTH BILL DUE FOR BITTER FIGHT

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP)—You don't have to be a prophet to see what's coming: The endless, bitter arguments in 1950 over the President's National Health Insurance program.

If I had to bet, I'd bet it doesn't pass in Congress next year. There's support for it there, but a lot of opposition. Mr. Truman's friends may not even try to bring it up for action in Congress in 1950.

Instead, they may leave it in the talking stage and then make it a campaign issue in the congressional elections late in 1950. Just the same, there'll be no lack of talk about it. Just as there was no lack in 1949.

Mr. Truman had been urging a national health insurance plan for years. He handed it to Congress last April. Very briefly, this is an outline of it:

Payroll Tax

About 120,000,000 Americans would be covered. The bill says the program would be financed by a payroll tax of 3 per cent, split between employers and employees on the first $4,800 of a worker's pay.

And the government would chip in some money which, of course, would come from other taxes. Total cost a year? Trumanites say: Maybe $5 billion. Opponents say: A lot more than that.

Oscar Ewing, head of the Federal Security administration which includes the public health service, is in Europe now examining health programs there.

He'll have plenty to say when he returns on January—which is when Congress returns—since he's one of the main pluggers for the Truman program. And the President can be expected to say more in 1950.

But so will the American Medical Association (AMA) have plenty to say, since it's the most vocal and active opponent of Mr. Truman's ideas on health. What the AMA did yesterday leaves no doubt of what it will do and say in 1950.

AMA Assesses Members

AMA officials call the Truman plan "socialized" medicine. (Trumanites deny there's anything socialistic about it at all. They say it's simply a long overdue plan for the country's general health.)

Pointing to the tax workers would have to pay for the program—if Congress approved it—AMA officials have called it an "extreme example of compulsory paternalism."

Yesterday the AMA decided to assess its members $25 each, per year, to fight the program. AMA officials called this a voluntary assessment.

Most doctors are members of AMA although not all of them oppose the Truman plan. Those that won't pay will be expelled. No member has to pay dues now.

It was estimated his method will raise around $3 million a year with which AMA can fight the Truman insurance program and do other things.

ADEQUACY OF BLIND PENSION TO BE PROBED

Harrisburg, Dec. 9 (AP)—Adequacy of blind pensions topped a list today of six aspects of state relief costs under investigation by a legislative committee.

All but 500 of 15,000 currently receiving blind payments would get increased benefits if the commonwealth took advantage of federal grants, said Sen. Fred P. Hare (R-Somerset).

Hare heads a sub-committee of the legislature's joint state government commission which is trying to find out why relief will cost the state $161,000,000 in the next two years.

At present, blind pensioners who earn less than $1,800 a year are entitled to state payments of $40 a month. They are not required to show need except for the income limitation.

Defeated Bill Last Year

The Federal Security administration has refused to allocate funds to Pennsylvania unless a definite need is established by blind persons. With this money, Hare said, blind pensioners could get as much as $4,000,000 a year more if federal requirements were met. Blind pensioners then would run as high as $60 monthly, he added.

The Pennsylvania Federation of the Blind beat down attempts in the House last April to enact a Senate-passed bill to take advantage of the federal grants. Federation spokesmen said at that time that blind persons would virtually have to take a pauper's oath to qualify for payments under the federal plan.

Meanwhile the sub-committee already has started a sampling of six per cent of 50,000 general assistance cases affecting 125,000 persons in an effort to gauge personal job, budget and other characteristics of persons receiving relief.

TREE FALLS ON AXMAN

York, Pa., Dec. 9 (AP)—Sixty-seven-year old Edwin Young chopped down a tree on his farm at nearby Preysville yesterday. The tree fell on top of him. Forty-five minutes later, Young died at York hospital. Deputy Coroner Ralph Keech said both his legs had been fractured.

CIVILIZATION IS LAGGING BEHIND IN MANY LANDS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

We pride ourselves mightily on our twentieth century civilization, until along comes some development to remind us that, while humanity has indeed made fair progress, literally hundreds of millions still are living in the dark ages.

What set me off on this unhappy line of thought was a news despatch from Johannesburg, South Africa, saying that ritual murders in Basutoland are preventing the British authorities with a difficult problem in African administration. And Basutoland isn't the only part of the dark continent where primitive practices are found.

Now if that were the whole story we might dismiss it as a hangover peculiar to Africa. But the fact is that in many other countries, of both hemispheres, one finds astonishing examples of barbarism and even savagery. I've encountered a lot myself.

Ritual Murder Victims

Getting back to Basutoland, the bodies of 293 victims of ritual murder have been found by police in the past seven years. And there is reason to believe that twice as many cases have gone undiscovered. The Gold Coast is another area where this horror still persists.

These present day ritual murders in Africa frequently consist of cutting the victim to pieces while he still is alive. The sacrifice is made to ward off evils or bring good fortune, and in that sense are religious.

And of course such practices aren't confined to Africa. Voodooism, involving human sacrifice, is found in some isolated parts of the West Indies, and other rites involving the taking of human life are carried out in primitive parts of the far east.

Weird Beliefs

Much more common than the horrors of ritual murder are practices involving the supernatural, and I have encountered these in many parts of the world. For instance, a lot of weird beliefs center in the Hindu Sadhus, or spirit doctors, who are found not only in the Orient but in the West Indies.

I ran into some amazing examples of these spirit doctors in Trinidad a few years ago. They operated in secret in the jungle districts, because the police were hunting them, but I managed to visit some of them through the assistance of an Indian college professor who believed in them.

These Sadhus treat disease with incantations. They drive out evil spirits which are plaguing folk, and a racing trolley that made a 13-block non-stop trip in an attempt to save his life. Harry B. Embick was pronounced dead at Misericordia hospital.

When Embick collapsed on the crowded car other passengers notified Motorman James Wright. The motorman asked one of the passengers to leave the car and telephone police. He designated a rendezvous 13 blocks away and three blocks from the hospital.

Police and firemen met the trolley at the rendezvous spot and transferred Embick to an emergency car. A rescue squad tried without success to revive Embick during the remaining three-block trip to the hospital.

THREE ALLIES STILL AT WAR WITH GERMANY

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, Dec. 9 (AP) — The three Western Allies—United States, Britain, France—are still in a state of war with Germany.

Next year they'll try to figure out how to end that. But when nations end war with another, don't they sign peace treaties?

Not necessarily. And State Department experts say the idea of making a peace treaty with Germany, if any, is far in the future. And that—ending the war but not signing a peace treaty right away—is one of the problems the Allies face in ending the war.

Specialists Face Problems
Legal specialists of the three powers will meet next year to work out the problems, if they can.

This may explain some of it. Germany now is divided into two main parts: Eastern Germany, under Russia's thumb; Western Germany, dominated by the three Allies.

In their section, the Russians have set up a German government. And in their Western section the three Allies have set up a German government.

Strange Position
Since the West and Russia are in a struggle over Germany, there is no likelihood that any time soon there'll be a single German government with which a peace treaty can be made, covering all Germany.

But—the West has permitted, and helped, the setting up of that government in Western Germany, is dealing with it although retaining final control over it, and is even letting it have consuls abroad.

Nevertheless, the West is still in a state of war with the German government it has helped create. This puts the West in a strange position and is one of the reasons it's seeking a way to end the war.

But since the West looks upon Russia as a threat to all Europe and Russia has troops in Eastern Germany, should the West try to keep troops in Western Germany as an outpost against a Russian move?

May Never Be Treaty
The West has to think of it. But how can the West, which now controls Western Germany, justify keeping troops there if it declares the war with Germany ended? That's another of the problems in declaring the war ended.

To make a long story short: Here is the West, trying to deal with Western Germany in a friendly way, and yet still at war with Germany. The act of ending the war could

Fatally Shot As He Cleans Gun

Seranton, Pa., Dec. 9 (AP)—William J. Boston, 49, decided he would sell his shotgun and use the money to buy Christmas presents for his five children.

Yesterday, Boston got the gun out of a closet and began cleaning the barrel. His wife, working in the kitchen, heard an explosion and ran into the living room to find Boston shot dead.

Lackawanna county Coroner Paul E. Kubasko said the shotgun had been discharged accidentally. The charge struck Boston in the head.

SAYS BONUS MAY HURT SCHOOLS

Harrisburg, Dec. 9 (AP) — Schools may lose some of their state grants as a result of the payment of the veterans bonus, says State Sen. Fred P. Hare, Jr., (R.—Somerset).

"Schools depending on the state for operating or expansion funds will run into new competition to obtain appropriations," Hare said as he addressed the 28th annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

"The belief that the bonus can be paid without additional taxes is just so much tommyrot," he said. "The $500,000,000 bonus fund is as done by the President or by a resolution of Congress. Of course, events may take such a turn that a treaty never is made with Germany, although war is ended.

To the Man Who Is Worried About His Friends ...

OCCASIONALLY, we encounter a man who hesitates to buy a Cadillac for fear his friends might think him ostentatious.

For all such people, we have the most reassuring news: The experience of Cadillac owners would indicate that your fears are without foundation.

True, the world has long since recognized that a Cadillac car is a fine and distinguished possession—but most people understand that quality is not a luxury, and that distinction is the offspring of goodness.

The facts in support of Cadillac's practicality are so convincing that the mere recital of just a few should be sufficient reassurance for the most hesitant buyer. Take, for instance, the matter of cost. There are eight other makes of cars which actually have certain models that are priced above the lowest-priced Cadillac. There is long life, for example. Four Cadillacs, of the 1947 Series, ran a total of 2,599,000 miles in a test recently concluded by a great tire manufacturer—almost 650,000 miles per car. All four were then sold into private service—and are still going strong!

Then there is economy. Innumerable tests show that the 1949 Cadillac actually approaches the lowest-priced popular cars in gasoline economy.

And, finally, there are the dependability records—which prove that the car's freedom from the need of repairs is just as unusual as its performance and beauty! Yes—if you are ready for a Cadillac, come in. You will never make a more sensible purchase—or one of which your friends will more heartily approve.

Moffitt, the army said, had had a "fine record," but when his unit got ready to head for the United States he apparently decided to pull out in order to be with his girl and baby.

The announcement said the family had been living in a house in the Grafenwoehr area until about two months ago. Then, an official said, the soldier got scared and moved his family into a homemade but well-camouflaged tent in the woods in the area.

To the Man Who Is Worried About His Friends ...

OCCASIONALLY, we encounter a man who hesitates to buy a Cadillac for fear his friends might think him ostentatious.

For all such people, we have the most reassuring news: The experience of Cadillac owners would indicate that your fears are without foundation.

True, the world has long since recognized that a Cadillac car is a fine and distinguished possession—but most people understand that quality is not a luxury, and that distinction is the offspring of goodness.

The facts in support of Cadillac's practicality are so convincing that the mere recital of just a few should be sufficient reassurance for the most hesitant buyer.

Take, for instance, the matter of cost. There are eight other makes of cars which actually have certain models that are priced above the lowest-priced Cadillac.

There is long life, for example. Four Cadillacs, of the 1942 Series, ran a total of 2,599,000 miles in a test recently concluded by a great tire manufacturer—almost 650,000 miles per car. All four were then sold into private service—and are still going strong!

Then there is economy. Innumerable tests show that the 1949 Cadillac actually approaches the lowest-priced popular cars in gasoline economy.

And, finally, there are the dependability records—which prove that the car's freedom from the need of repairs is just as unusual as its performance and beauty!

Yes—if you are ready for a Cadillac, come in. You will never make a more sensible purchase—or one of which your friends will more heartily approve.

CIVILIZATION IS LAGGING BEHIND
IN MANY LANDS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

We pride ourselves mightily on our twentieth century civilization, until along comes some development to remind us that, while humanity has indeed made fair progress, literally hundreds of millions still are living in the dark ages.

What set me off on this unhappy line of thought was a news despatch from Johannesburg, South Africa, saying that ritual murders in Basutoland are preventing the British authorities with a difficult problem in African administration. And Basutoland isn't the only part of the dark continent where primitive practices are found.

Now if that were the whole story we might dismiss it as a hangover peculiar to Africa. But the fact is that in many other countries, of both hemispheres one finds astonishing examples of barbarism and even savagery. I've encountered a few myself.

Ritual Murder Victims

Getting back to Basutoland, the bodies of 293 victims of ritual murder have been found by police in the past seven years. And there is reason to believe that twice as many cases have gone undiscovered. The Gold Coast is another area where this horror still persists.

These present day ritual murders in Africa frequently consist of cutting the victim to pieces while he still is alive. The sacrifice is made to ward off evils or bring good fortune, and in that sense are religious.

And of course such practices aren't confined to Africa. Voodooism, involving human sacrifice, is found in some isolated parts of the West Indies, and other rites involving the taking of human life are carried out in primitive parts of the far east.

Weird Beliefs

Much more common than the horrors of ritual murder are practices involving the supernatural, and I have encountered these in many parts of the world. For instance, a lot of weird beliefs center in the Hindu Sadhus, or spirit doctors, who are found not only in the Orient but in the West Indies.

I ran into some amazing examples

Trolley Rashes Man

Philadelphia, Dec. 9 (AP) — A 70-year-old tailor died Wednesday on a racing trolley that made a 13-block non-stop trip in an attempt to save his life. Harry B. Embick was pronounced dead at Misericordia hospital.

When Embick collapsed on the crowded car other passengers notified Motorman James Wright. The motorman asked one of the passengers to leave the car and telephone police. He designated a rendezvous 13 blocks away and three blocks from the hospital.

Police and firemen met the trolley at the rendezvous spot and transferred Embick to an emergency car. A rescue squad tried without success to revive Embick during the remaining three-block trip to the hospital.

CHORUS PLANS SECOND ANNUAL CONCERT DEC. 16

The Littlestown Men's chorus will present its second annual concert on Friday evening, December 16, at 8 o'clock, in the Littlestown Junior-Senior high school auditorium. An entirely new program of songs with member soloists has been prepared for the occasion. Different stage arrangements and settings will be used.

"The Song of Christmas," by Roy Dingwald, one of Fred Waring's arrangements, will be one of the features of the concert. Mack Edwards, Hanover, will be the narrator, and a women's group of eight voices will make their initial appearance in the "Song of Christmas." Miss Helen Brainard, who is one of the instructors at Western Maryland college and has appeared as soloist with symphony orchestras throughout the United States, will also be featured.

This chorus, which is self-supporting through concerts and singing engagements and is not associated with any group or organization, was organized in Littlestown on April 8, 1948, with 25 members. By the time of their first concert on November 26, 1948, the membership had increased to 35. It is the intention of the chorus not to exceed a total membership of 35.

To Broadcast Again
The chorus has had many engagements. Included was the Veterans' Administration hospital, Lebanon, where the chorus presented two one-hour programs totaling 32 songs. On Easter Sunday they appeared before the 181st Rotary District conference at Carlisle. They also presented a 13-week series of Sunday radio broadcasts over a Hanover radio station. It is the intention of the chorus to resume these broadcasts for another period of 13 weeks, beginning January 8, 1950, when they expect to broadcast from the lecture room of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Littlestown. These broadcasts will be open to the public.

At last year's concert the chorus appeared for the first time in blue summer formal style coats with maroon accessories. This year the group will appear at the concert wearing their newly-purchased dark blue trousers. The total cost of their formal wear is about $1,200.

Eight Women Added
In recent months, a group of eight women was added to the chorus. This concert will mark their first appearance. It is planned to keep them a part of the chorus for special appearances and concerts. The members of this group are Marianna Catalino, Patsy Crouse, Romaine Kammerer, E. Lorraine Myers, Doris Plunkert, Dorothy Snyder, Bernice Yealy and Jean Yealy. They will be featured on the concert program in two songs with the chorus and also in the Christmas choral work, "The Song of Christmas."

Another addition to the chorus since the last concert is Patsy Crouse as vocalist. It is planned to have her appear with the chorus on various programs, singing the more popular type of song. She has had several years experience as a vocalist, appearing with a popular band in Frederick and singing on the Frederick radio station. She will be featured on the concert program in the song, "Body and Soul," and will sing a duet with Stewart N. Long, tenor soloist of the chorus, in the song, "My Heart Stood Still."

L. Robert Snyder is director of the chorus; J. Robert Sell, treasurer, and Robert DeGroft, librarian. Mrs. J. Robert Sell is pianist and Lois Ann Feiser, assistant pianist.

The bump-smothering gentleness of soft coil springs on all wheels, both fore and aft.

The roominess of Buick's king-size interiors—the lightness of Buick controls—the new parking and garaging ease of traffic-handly size—

And that completely different and distinguished look of Buick's tapered fenders, sleek jet-plane lines and the sturdy, shock-deflecting protection of that bold new front-end design.

So go ahead and listen to that still small voice. It's your budget, nudging you to go get the actual figures and replace guesses with facts.

CHORUS PLANS SECOND ANNUAL CONCERT DEC. 16

The Littlestown Men's chorus will present its second annual concert on Friday evening, December 16, at 8 o'clock, in the Littlestown Junior-Senior high school auditorium. An entirely new program of songs with member soloists has been prepared for the occasion. Different stage arrangements and settings will be used.

"The Song of Christmas," by Roy Dingwald, one of Fred Waring's arrangements, will be one of the features of the concert. Mack Edwards, Hanover, will be the narrator, and a women's group of eight voices will make their initial appearance in the "Song of Christmas." Miss Helen Brainard, who is one of the instructors at Western Maryland college and has appeared as soloist with symphony orchestras throughout the United States, will also be featured.

This chorus, which is self-supporting through concerts and singing engagements and is not associated with any group or organization, was organized in Littlestown on April 8, 1948, with 25 members. By the time of their first concert on November 26, 1948, the membership had increased to 35. It is the intention of the chorus not to exceed a total membership of 35.

To Broadcast Again
The chorus has had many engagements. Included was the Veterans' Administration hospital, Lebanon, where the chorus presented two one-hour programs totaling 32 songs. On Easter Sunday they appeared before the 181st Rotary District conference at Carlisle. They also presented a 13-week series of Sunday radio broadcasts over a Hanover radio station. It is the intention of the chorus to resume these broadcasts for another period of 13 weeks, beginning January 8, 1950, when they expect to broadcast from the lecture room of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Littlestown. These broadcasts will be open to the public.

At last year's concert the chorus appeared for the first time in blue summer formal style coats with maroon accessories. This year the group will appear at the concert wearing their newly-purchased dark blue trousers. The total cost of their formal wear is about $1,200.

Eight Women Added
In recent months, a group of eight women was added to the chorus. This concert will mark their first appearance. It is planned to keep them a part of the chorus for special appearances and concerts. The members of this group are Marianna Catalano, Patsy Crouse, Romaine Kammerer, E. Lorraine Myers, Doris Plunkert, Dorothy Snyder, Bernice Yealy and Jean Yealy. They will be featured on the concert program in two songs with the chorus and also in the Christmas choral work, "The Song of Christmas."

Another addition to the chorus since the last concert is Patsy Crouse as vocalist. It is planned to have her appear with the chorus on various programs, singing the more popular type of song. She has had several years experience as a vocalist, appearing with a popular band in Frederick and singing on the Frederick radio station. She will be featured on the concert program in the song, "Body and Soul," and will sing a duet with Stewart N. Long, tenor soloist of the chorus, in the song, "My Heart Stood Still."

L. Robert Snyder is director of the chorus; J. Robert Seil, treasurer, and Robert DeGroff, librarian. Mrs. J. Robert Seil is pianist and Lois Ann Feaser, assistant pianist.
